Gives 'Final Warning' on Route 30 Job

HIGHWAY CHIEF SETS DEADLINE FOR NEXT WEEK

Beightler Tells City, County Delegation Agreement Must Be Reached by Then.

ORDERS CROSSING SURVEY

Says $400,000 Earmarked for Job to Be Spent Elsewhere Unless County Acts.

State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler warned a delegation of Mansfield and Richland county officials in Columbus today that unless an agreement was reached next week on the proposed $600,000 U. S. route 30N grade separation project, it would be postponed indefinitely.

"This matter has been hanging fire long enough," he told the group. "I will have a survey made next week and then call another conference of interested parties. If an agreement cannot be reached at that time, the money will be spent somewhere else."

City, county and automobile club officials with Frank Hopley, Bucyrus, state counsel for the Lincoln Highway association made the trip to Columbus today to discuss with Beightler terms for financing the proposed project.

In a letter to the county commissioners last week the director extended the time limit for providing the county's $50,000 share of the cost from two to three years. Commissioners had agreed to participate to the extent of $50,000 but refused to provide it over a two-year period. They had offered to pay their share over a five-year period.

Beightler invited the county officials and other interested persons to meet in his office to decide the matter. He said, if accepted, the county would not have to make its first payment until 1940.

The highway director said today that approximately $400,000 in state and federal funds had been earmarked for grade separations at the Erie and B. & O. railroad crossings, west of Mansfield. Final recommendations on the width of the proposed improvement will be made next week, he added.

Members of the delegation, who promised cooperation were Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist, County Commissioners Ray Hout, C. L. Mitchell and Guy Stewart, and C. H. Stander, Harry Sotzer, Floyd Wise and H. G. Brunner representing the Richland County Automobile club.

Infant, Born With 2 Heads, Survives Major Operation

BRISTOL, Tenn. —(U.P.)— Dr. J. C. Statzer, elderly country doctor, said today the infant son of a farm couple near here was alive and thriving nearly three weeks after he had amputated one of two heads with which it was born.

The child, a boy, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Emory Herron at their farm near Indian Springs, Oct. 17. Dr. Statzer, who delivered the baby, said a second, smaller head projected from the base of the skull of a normal head.

"There were impressions for nose, eyes, ears and mouth on the second head," the doctor said, "but no vents.

"I operated at once, amputating only part of the head so the remainder could be used to fix a ligature. I didn't want a newborn baby to lose any blood, and he lost very little."

Dr. Statzer said he completed the operation five days later and since he could not tie off the wound the bleeding was profuse.

The doctor said that since the second operation the baby had been normal in all respects and was gaining weight. He had weighed nine pounds at birth and now weighed nine and a quarter pounds, minus the second head.

LISTED AS SUICIDE.

WARREN, O.—(U.P.)—Coroner J. C. Henshaw today listed the death of former Trumbull county Probate Judge Samuel Graber, 57, as a suicide. Henshaw said Graber shot himself after being ill more than two years.

Jam Theater As Cooking School Ends

More Than 2,000, Biggest Crowd on Record, Turn Out for Finale.

They weren't actually hanging onto the chandeliers at the Ohio theater this morning when the final session of the News-Journal's cooking school got under way, but they were standing in the aisles, the lobby and sitting on the balcony steps.

A half hour after the school opened this morning more than 2,000 women had crowded into the Ohio and they still kept coming. A police officer was called to assist in handling the crowd.

It was the largest audience ever to attend a cooking school session, topping the previous record of 1,800 by more than 200. Today's crowd brought the total attendance for the four days of the school well over 6,500.

One of the factors contributing to the success of the school this fall was the return of Miss Ruth Chambers, lecturer and food expert who has conducted schools here three times before. She was assisted by Miss Reba Staggs. Miss Chambers is a member of the Chicago Meat and Live Stock association and her daily programs teach women how to use the cheapest and most economical cuts of meat as well as the most expensive.

Today Miss Chambers included some new and tempting dishes in her program. One was a loaf of macaroni and cheese baked in a pan lined with browned link sausages. Squaw corn was a tempting dish and a quick one for a 30-minute meal.

At the end of the session the prepared dishes were given away.

REJECTS APPEAL OF 118 HEIRS

Huston Denies Their Right to Share in $25,000 Estate in Reversing Probate Ruling.

Heirs of the late Jacob Flowers, Sandusky township farmer, were denied the right to share in his estate in a decision which had been handed down today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston who heard the probate court case by special assignment.

The decision reverses a previous probate court ruling which gave the estate to 118 heirs of Mr. Flowers who were located in 14 states from coast to coast. The estate amounts to more than $25,000, most of it representing real estate in Sandusky township and Galion.

Immediately after Judge Huston announced his decision in an 18-page opinion, counsel for the Flowers heirs filed a motion for a new trial. Attys. C. H. Workman and J. W. Galbraith represent the heirs.

Judge Huston's ruling voids the will of the late Mr. Flowers and upholds the will of his widow who

REFUSE AWARDS

Nazi Scientists Turn Down Nobel Prizes in Chemistry.

BERLIN —(INS)— Two German scientists today declined awards of Nobel prizes in chemistry totalling $60,000 on the basis of the 1937 law prohibiting Germans from accepting Nobel awards.

Prof. Adolphe Butenandt of the Kaiser Wilhelm institute turned down a $20,000 award and Prof. Richard Kuhn of Heidelberg rejected a $40,000 prize.

Chancellor Hitler banned Nobel prizes for Germans when the late Carl Von Ossietsky was awarded a Nobel peace prize while in a German concentration camp.

IT'S ALL OVER

Edna Best, Actress, Says She Will Divorce Herbert Marshall.

HOLLYWOOD— (INS) —Screen Actress Edna Best confirmed rumors today of a marital rift with her noted husband, Herbert Marshall, the English stage and screen actor, and said she would seek a divorce in Reno, Nev., as soon as she finished a picture she was making.

Previously both Marshall and Miss Best had denied sporadic rumors that all was not well between them.

As Hitler, Aides Returned Unharmed To Berlin

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, center above, walks calmly out of the Berlin railroad station following his return there from Munich, where he and a number of leading Nazis narrowly escaped death or injury. Shortly after Hitler and his aides left the beer hall, where he made a speech celebrating the anniversary of the abortive Nazi putsch of 1923, an explosion shattered the ceiling, killing eight persons still within the hall. At Hitler's right is Field Marshal Hermann Goering, who was not at the celebration, but welcomed Hitler back to Berlin.

AT 1937 CELEBRATION

City Joins Nation Tomorrow In Armistice Day Observance

Mansfield joins the nation tomorrow in the observance of the 21st anniversary of Armistice day. City and county offices will be closed while memorial services and a parade will commemorate the day in 1918 when the war to end wars came to an end.

The city's four banks will observe the holiday by remaining closed all day while the postoffice moves up its Saturday closing hour from noon to 10:30 a. m.

The board of directors of the Retail Merchants association today urged all stores to observe two minutes of silence at 11 a. m. tomorrow in commemoration of the Armistice.

Ex-servicemen will meet at the American Legion home at 10:15 a. m. to prepare for the start of the day's commemorative services. They will be joined by Battery D of the 134th Field Artillery and march to Central park at 10:45 a. m. to open the Armistice ceremonies.

At 11 minutes of 11, the first of 11 bombs will be set off and there will be one exploded each minute until 11 a. m. At that hour the American Legion and its auxiliary will hold services at the Doughboy monument on the east side of the park, where a wreath, in memory of all unknown dead of the World war will be placed at the base of the monument.

Immediately after the services at the monument the group will move to the west side of the park where services will be held at the symbolical tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Members of the Legion Drum corps will meet at the post home at 1:30 p. m. and will go by bus to the Senior high school auditorium where at 2:30 they will participate in the flag-raising ceremony before the football game.

Open house will be observed at the post home throughout the day and at 6 p. m. the Legion will be host to all veterans of the World war regardless of whether they are affiliated with any veteran organization, and to the veterans of the Spanish American war.

The parade column forms at 7 p. m. at Sturges and Bowman and moves promptly at 7:30.

PROBE DEATH

Police Find Guggenheim Heir Fatally Wounded by Rifle.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Mystery today shrouded the death of George Denver Guggenheim, 32, beneficiary of a million-dollar trust fund established by his wealthy father, Simon Guggenheim, who was found fatally wounded by a rifle in a mid-Manhattan hotel where he had registered under an assumed name.

Guggenheim registered at the hotel last Wednesday under the name of Herbert Hildebrand, San Francisco, lugging a long cardboard box which police said evidently carried the newly purchased rifle of an exceptionally powerful type.

He paid for the suite in advance. When found, about eight hours after his death, he was fully clothed and had $325 in cash in his pockets. One shot had been fired from the .300 calibre hunting rifle which lay underneath the body.

TAKES LEAD IN ELECTION RACE

Irwin Hunter Ahead 31 Votes In Contest for County Education Board Job.

Irwin Hunter of Bloominggrove township assumed a 31-vote lead over W. M. Ritchie of Troy township today in the close race for a Richland county board of education post as returns continued to come in.

Ritchie was five votes ahead of Hunter yesterday, but late returns from overlapping school districts in Huron county put Hunter ahead. The vote today was: Hunter, 2,395, and Ritchie, 2,364.

The county board of elections still awaited a report from a district in Knox county which will decide the winner. Voters in sections of every county surrounding Richland county ballot on the county board of education posts because the Richland county school system reaches into

HITLER TARGET

Missile Aimed At His Picture Breaks Berlin Window

BERLIN—(AP)—A large plate glass window in the store of Heinrich Hoffmann, personal photographer to Adolf Hitler, was smashed today by a missile apparently aimed at a huge picture of the Fuehrer.

Hoffmann returned yesterday from Munich, where he attended the celebration of the 1923 putsch anniversary and narrowly escaped being caught in the blast which wrecked the historic Buergerbrau cellar.

TRANSFER OF U. S. VESSELS CALLED LEGAL

But President Also Says He Hasn't Decided to Permit Plan in Future.

SEEKS TO AID SAILORS

Seamen Thrown Out of Work by Neutrality Act May Get Social Security.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON— President Roosevelt said today transfer of eight United States line vessels to Panama registry would be legal, but that the question of whether to permit it still was being studied from a human as well as a property angle.

Discussing at his press conference the situation created for the nation's North Atlantic sea lines as a result of shipping restrictions of the neutrality act, Roosevelt also reported he would recommend to congress that seamen thrown out of work be placed under the social security program to receive old age pensions and unemployment insurance benefits.

The neutrality act forbids American ships to visit belligerent ports.

The president said he would discuss with maritime labor leaders during the day the prospects of working out with the maritime commission a project to give training under commissioned officers to officers and seamen thrown out of work. They would be paid by the government during such training.

Roosevelt said he also was considering use of the 25 to 35 American flag ships taken out of the north Atlantic trade in fetching materials the government is purchasing under a $10,000,000 appropriation for a reserve of strategic war supplies.

Refers to Agreement.

In this connection he referred to the agreement with Great Britain to exchange American cotton for British rubber and tin. American ships, now idle, may be used to bring the rubber and tin back from the East Indies while the British ships carry American cotton back to the British Isles.

To suggestions that the American ships taken out of North Atlantic commerce be put on South American and other routes, Roosevelt said that was a beautiful thought but unfortunately there was a shortage of goods and passengers for such trade.

Pending action by Congress on his social security recommendation, he continued, he will try to put into operation a maritime commission training program for unemployed crews to provide some immediate relief.

He expressed the hope this project could provide assistance to a substantial portion of the many thousands of officers and seamen made jobless by the neutrality act restriction.

COUPLE KILLED

Marion Coroner Says Husband Shot Estranged Wife, Self.

MARION, O. —(U.P.)— Worries over finances and health were believed to have been responsible for what Coroner M. F. Axthelm said today was the murder and suicide of Mrs. Ella Mae Bartram, 34, and her estranged husband, Dallas, 58.

Authorities were told that a physician had warned Bartram he had not long to live because of silicosis, an industrial disease. He had been employed in Bucyrus.

Bartram, recently sued for divorce, left two notes, telling of financial and domestic difficulties. Surviving are two children by Mrs. Bartram's previous marriage, June McCutcheon, 11, and Eugene McCutcheon, 7. The shooting took place while the children were at school.

Marion authorities sought to locate George D. McCutcheon, Tulahoma, Tenn., father of the children. Six months ago he filed a kidnaping charge against his former wife in connection with removal of June to Marion but later dropped the charge.

Fears Nazi Blow On Anniversary Of '18 Armistice

Low Sections Flooded, Leaves Cancelled; See Possible Attack By Germany In Effort To Reach Britain; New Incident Increases Tension.

(By International News Service)

Flooding her defensive "water line" and cancelling all military leaves as "precautionary" measures, little Holland took the center of the European stage today as it struggled to maintain its neutrality in the European war. Belgium also speeded defense precautions.

The drastic defense preparations in Holland, coming immediately after an incident on the Dutch-German border, in which one Netherlands civilian was reported shot and several others were believed to have been abducted into the reich, once again aroused rumors of a possible German "blitzkrieg" through the low countries.

An Exchange Telegraph (British) dispatch from Amsterdam lost no time in capitalizing on this possibility. This dispatch cited reports from Berlin to the effect that Chancellor Hitler may seek to achieve a spectacular success tomorrow—Armistice day—to wipe out the "disgrace" of the armistice that ended the World war in 1918.

In London responsible quarters took a somewhat similar point of view, revealing that they anticipated an "important German war initiative" any time after this week-end.

The German blow, these circles said, may prove "extremely savage"—especially in view of Nazi threats of a war of "extermination" against Great Britain following the Munich beer hall explosion.

They added that British strategy remains that of leaving the first blow to Hitler, but said that Britain would return the blow, if and when made, with retaliatory use of whatever weapon Germany might employ.

Cabinet Meets.

The situation, and especially the Dutch precautions, revived speculation as to the possibility of a German drive through Holland, Belgium or both to gain bases for a major aerial onslaught against the British Isles.

In Holland the Dutch cabinet held a special meeting and was reported to have decided to prepare for all eventualities. The London Daily Express said that Dutch mobilization had reached a peak of 600,000 men and that large military detachments were en route to the German border to face the German mechanized forces reportedly concentrated on the other side.

The peace appeal by Queen Wilhelmina of Holland and King Leopold of the Belgians received encouragement, meanwhile, from an influential state in southeastern Europe, which itself has been the subject of much specu-

BOMBING: Hundreds Jailed In Munich Blast, Reward Offered

(By United Press)

BERLIN—Newspapers said today that the bombing of the Munich beer hall shrine of Naziism in an attempt to assassinate Adolf Hitler had caused angry demonstrations throughout the country "including the Ruhr."

Henrich Himmler's Gestapo—the secret police—were said to have taken hundreds into provisional custody and to have developed several important clues.

The public had responded to offers of $240,000 in rewards with thousands of tips and clues, while experts searched the wreckage of the cellar; police built up a mosaic of the scene and a special commission of experts studied it.

The attitude was that Great Britain was responsible for the bombing, which killed seven and injured 63 only 10 minutes after Hitler had left the hall, but that some disgruntled German Democrat or former Communist might have been the actual perpetrator.

The semi-official D. N. B. agency said a time bomb caused the explosion and that the plot was not spontaneous but had been long and well prepared. Nazis said obviously, a number of persons were involved because the preparations had been too complicated for one man.

The manhunt was of vital concern to the 70,000 Jews in Germany who, just one year ago today suffered the beginning of one of their worst pogoms in modern times as the Nazis took revenge for the slaying of Ernst Vom Rath, a German embassy attache in Paris, by a young Jew.

There had been no indication so far that German Jews would be blamed for the bombing, although "international Jews" came in for some of the blame.

In addition to the $240,000 reward, Himmler said that since the trail led to a foreign country, German consulates abroad had been authorized to pay $120,000 in foreign currency to anyone who furnished information leading to the solution of the case.

PHONEY WAR? Says French Army Eager For Decisive Test

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
(International News Service Writer)

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY AT THE FRONT—This is not a "phoney war" and nobody can go with the French army and think that it is.

It is not even at all certain that the inactivity which has puzzled the outside world and led many Americans to believe the combatants were "pulling their punches" will continue, as many observers have become convinced, until next spring.

On the contrary, if a few more days of good weather persist, there is a good chance that Chancellor Hitler may launch an offensive which will make war on the western front as real as at any time during the bloodiest period of the last war and put to shame the sideline critics abroad who have begun to jeer as Europe warily approached her death struggle.

When and if he does launch his attack, Hitler's men are going to find themselves eagerly met by an army superior to theirs in men, morale and materials.

Here, "somewhere in France," in the headquarters of one of the senior offices of the French army we listened to an explanation which for the first time made clear some of the characteristics of this war which have made Americans wonder what it is all about.

We were surrounded with the blackness of a blackout which made even London seem brilliantly lighted by comparison. Our host was a man whose word controls the destiny literally of millions. His hard, athletic body and tight-lipped, bold-chinned face made me realize that beside this type of "tough" French officer, the Germans with their rigidity seem breakable and brittle.

I asked why the Allies had not attacked at the beginning of the

VARIETY OF NEW BOOKS ADDED BY PUBLIC LIBRARY

This Week's List Includes 8 for Black Memorial Collection.

Eight recent books are being added this week to the John Baxter Black Memorial Collection. KITTY FOYLE by Christopher Morley is the natural history of a woman. The book seems to be a woman thinking her thoughts aloud to the reader. Kitty, being 28 years old now, reveals the feelings of a woman who belongs distinctly to this generation.

MISS SUSIE SLAGLE'S by Augusta Tucker is a heart-warming story of six young medical students who lived at the same boardinghouse in Baltimore.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAY by Somerset Maugham records Charley Mason's abrupt transition from romantic adolescence into the reality of adult life experienced during a visit to Paris.

FOUR-PART SETTING by Ann Bridge takes place in China, portraying the life of a group of English people living in the International Settlement at Peking during the civil war.

There are four non-fiction books in the addition. TREASURY OF ART MASTERPIECES edited by Thomas Craven contains very careful reproductions of the world's finest paintings from the time of the Renaissance to the present day, with an explanatory page of text opposite each picture.

PIONEERS OF PLENTY by Christy Borth is the story of chemurgy, describing all the recent developments which are linking chemistry with industry to better human living. DIVIDENDS TO PAY by E. D. Kennedy gives a pessimistic view of the role of capital and industrialists in our modern life. Emphasis is placed on the fact that dividends must be paid to stock-holders regardless of the resulting effect upon laborers.

THOREAU by Henry Seidel Canby is a clearly-etched portrait of the uncompromising individualist of Concord.

NIGHT RIDER by Robert Penn Warren is the story of Perse Munn, a Kentucky lawyer and tobacco farmer. Drawn into leadership of the Tobacco Cooperative, his peaceful, ordered life changes into one of violence, with burnings, killings, and martial law.

Five other fiction volumes will be released Monday at the library. They are: ONE FIGHT MORE by Ertz. ALIVE AND KICKING NED by Masefield. OVERTURE TO DEATH by Marsh. GOLDEN GOOSE MURDERS by McRoyd. AT CHRISTMAS TIME by Almy.

MAUD is the journal of Isabella Maud Rittenhouse edited and arranged for publication by Richard Lee Strout. The book is a remarkably candid self-portrait of a quite remarkable personality. The journal which this belle of Cairo, Illinois kept from the time she was 12 till her marriage in 1895 at the age of 30 contains an amazingly frank record of the emotions of adolescence and early maturity in the Victorian period.

Other non-fiction:

EDWARD GIBBON, 1737-1791, Low; NEW BOOK OF THE DOG, Ash; CRAFT OF THE JAPANESE SCULPTOR, Warner; FOOTNOTES TO THE FILM, Davy; STEAMBOAT DAYS, Dayton; THIRTY YEARS' WAR, Wedgwood.

MY 50 YEARS IN ENGINEERING, Hitchcock & Weed; FLAGS OF THE WORLD: PAST AND PRESENT, Holohan; SUN YAT-SEN: HIS POLITICAL AND SOCIAL IDEALS, Sun Yat-Sen; MANUAL OF THE TREES OF NORTH AMERICA, Sargent; POLYNESIAN VENTURE, Bailey; FINNS ON THE DELAWARE, Wuorinen; REF. BOOK: WOMEN OF OHIO, edited by Neely, 3 vols.

Proceeds will be used for needy children of the school. Mrs. George Hellinger and Mrs. George Reese are in charge of arrangements.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

From time to time the request comes for stories of the South. Two stories of this type will be displayed this week. The first is a new book with characters worth meeting. The second is a new copy of a book that has been a favorite for some time.

RUNAWAY LINDA, by Marjorie Hill Allee—Linda and Joel were refugees from the Civil War claimed by a fictitious uncle from Indiana. On their way with him from North Carolina they escaped from the train and found refuge with William Saint and his family. Most of the story is concerned with the activities of this interesting family.

THE BOYS AND SALLY, by Rose B. Knox—Sally and her brother Van were taken to a southern plantation to visit their uncle and aunt while their grandmother was ill. The life on the plantation and the cotton harvest in addition to the activities of the children, fill this story with action.

HAS A SYSTEM

BODEGA, Cal.—(AP)—A pelican at Bodega bay allowed a fisherman to feed it a fish out of his hand. Since then, it has never been known to catch a fish itself.

The fishermen on the bay know it, and they have only to wave their hands and it will fly a half mile to be fed. But it will not fish for itself.

SCHOOLS MARK ARMISTICE DAY WITH PROGRAMS

Programs in observance of Armistice Day were held this morning at Senior and Madison high schools.

The Senior high program, held in the auditorium, featured talks by three students who represented Mansfield at the American Legion Boys State in Columbus last summer. They were Robert Sheriff, Robert Tawse and Eldon Sneeringer. Sheriff gave a talk on the last World war, and Tawse and Sneeringer spoke on present conditions in Europe.

The student body joined in the singing of "America the Beautiful" and "The Star Spangled Banner." Special numbers were presented by the school orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgenson. Steve Karnavas, president of the 12-B class, who also attended the Boys State, acted as chairman.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, addressed students of Madison high at an assembly. A program of patriotic numbers was presented by the school orchestra, directed by James Weber. Al Fendrick and William Kopcial history teachers, were in charge of assembly arrangements.

The Senior high school band will sponsor a student dance tomorrow night in the gymnasium following the Mansfield-Canton McKinley football game.

The dance will be another in a series of projects the band is holding to raise money for new uniforms. Dancing will begin at 8:30 and continue until 11:30 with Gene Lantz and his orchestra furnishing the music.

TREASURY BALANCE UP

COLUMBUS — (AP) — State Treasurer Don H. Ebright today reported a treasury balance on Oct. 31 of $45,607,018, approximately $8,647,000 greater than on the corresponding date last year, which he said was due to increased tax revenues and lower state expenditures.

Speed Work on Huge TVA Dam in North Carolina

(By United Press)

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—The $22,000,000 Hiwassee Dam, the Tennessee Valley Authority's only major project in North Carolina, is being rushed to completion months ahead of schedule.

Originally scheduled to be built in 1941, the huge project will be finished early next February.

Completion of the electric power plant had been expected within 12 months after the last of the concrete had been poured. But, according to present estimates, it will be finished by next August and turbines and generators will begin turning at that time.

TVA officials said Hiwassee Dam was being finished ahead of schedule, because workmen and technicians, trained in dam building on other Authority projects, had become more proficient and therefore were able to finish the work far in advance of the original estimate.

At present, 1,150 men are employed on construction. Two hundred are completing clearance of the basin of the lake. Four hundred are working on road and railroad relocation projects and sewer and water jobs.

16,000 DEER MOVE IN

RED BLUFF, Cal. —(U.P.)— Owners of the Cone-Stover-McKenzie and Cone and Ward ranches are entertaining—and feeding—16,000 uninvited deer this fall. The deer just "moved in" from exhausted ranges and began grazing.

AN OLD GAME

MELFORD, Sask. —(U.P.)— John Tucker was arrested on a charge of tricking a Chinese in the old scheme of having his money doubled by leaving it in a box for two days.

Following the directions to the letter, Chow, the plaintiff, said he opened the box on the second day only to find it stuffed with paper. He claimed his loss was $30.

ADD FISH STORIES

BRUNSWICK, Me.— (U.P.) — Homeward bound after a day of fruitless duck hunting, Albert Kendrik spied something swimming in Bunganuc creek. He fired and bagged a 27½-pound codfish.

Bingo, Not Baseball, Favorite In Cincy.

CINCINNATI—(UP)—Bingo, not baseball, is the favorite sport here, Police Chief Eugene Weatherly reported today.

"The bingo attendance during the summer exceeded that at Crosley field by 123,241," he said.

Tygers Ready for Marantides, Dugger & Company

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

COMPLAINTS against the increase in prices for Saturday's renewal of the Mansfield-Canton gridiron rivalry at Stadium field are not justified, Mansfield high school officials contend. . . . They admit that the advance in admission from 50 to 75 cents appears as a scheme to take advantage of the public on an attractive game, but deny that this is the reason. . . . "The reason we are hiking the price for Saturday's game is because the athletic department needs funds to finance the school sports program," one of the officials stated. "This fall's profits must finance next year's football team, not to mention the sophomore and junior high clubs." . . . He says it was just a matter of obtaining the funds that will be needed to operate the type of football system that Mansfield has indicated it desires. . . . This season has not been any too profitable, and the Canton and Shelby games are the only tilts remaining on the schedule. . . . These two games, we understand, will have to furnish the money for next season's program as the other contests have not provided the revenue anticipated. . . . The Akron Kenmore game, for instance, failed to pay expenses. . . . Anyway, the same official declared, an increase in price has been made for one outstanding game each year. . . . So, the advance for the McKinley game is not establishing a precedent. . . . He added that the 50 cents price would prevail again for the Shelby game.

* * *

HE SHOULD WORRY

Eugene Young, Notre Dame trainer, is getting ready for the W. K. Rainy Day . . . He's a graduate in law and is licensed in four states . . . He also is taking a medical course . . . and just as insurance, he's bought a nut farm in Mississippi.

* * *

THE selection of Cuyahoga Falls as the Tygers' opponent in the Turkey Day game at Stadium field has been openly criticized. . . . Cuyahoga Falls' achievements do not compare with those of a number of other Ohio teams, but Mansfield high school officials could not be choicy in their selection in this instance. . . . More than 30 schools rejected Mansfield's invitation, and it probably would have been necessary to cancel the proposed game had Cuyahoga Falls not accepted. . . . It is quite difficult to schedule post-season games, particularly on Thanksgiving Day, due to the number of schools which are already scheduled on the holiday. . . . Other schools prohibit post-season games because they interfere with basketball preparations. . . . Cuyahoga Falls, we understand, was not interested in the Mansfield game as much for financial reasons as it was for a chance to prove its class against what it believes to be "one of the stronger teams in the state" . . . The Falls team has made remarkable strides after a poor start under a new coaching regime, and it would consider a victory over the Tygers as a perfect climax to a grand comeback.

TAKE ON RISK

COLUMBUS—(NS)— Persons who attend baseball games do so with full knowledge of the personal injury risk involved, the state supreme court decided today.

The decision came as the high tribunal overruled the appeal of Margaret Ivory, Cincinnati, who was struck and injured by a foul ball while attending a game in Crosley field, Cincinnati, the summer of 1935.

STRESS PASSING ATTACK

CINCINNATI —(NS)— Cincinnati U's pass offense came in for some final brushing up today as the Bearcats looked forward to their "Dad's Day" encounter tomorrow with Boston university. Malloy Dixon, speedy back, was on the hurling end of most of the passes in yesterday's scrimmage with the frosh.

THEIR claws sharpened for what looms as the toughest engagement remaining on the schedule, Coach Paul Snyder's Tygers of Mansfield high school closed a heavy week of work on the practice grid today in preparation for the Stadium field invasion of Canton McKinley at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Haunted in this week's drills by thoughts of the 32 to 0 drubbing administered by the Bulldogs in the series inaugural last fall, the Tygers appeared confident on the eve of their Armistice day battle with the Canton club.

Mansfield defeated Sandusky, 9 to 0, and the Blue Streaks won over Canton, 13 to 0, with the comparison giving the Tygers a clear-cut edge.

* * *

Coach Snyder and his assistants, Harry Mehock and Vern Hoffman, disregard the comparison of scores, and look for a battle that will tax the Tygers' strength.

* * *

After a rather disappointing start, the Bulldogs have improved to a point where even Massillon regards the McKinley team with some concern.

Defeated only by Sandusky and Warren, the Bulldogs have defeated Erie, Pa., Academy and Steubenville and tied Alliance in their last three games.

With both teams packing lines which stack up on a par, the ball game may be determined by a pair of backs, Andy Marantides of Canton and Howard Hershey of Mansfield.

These two halfbacks have been the leading figures in their team's triumphs, and a spectacular duel between Marantides and Hershey appears in the offing.

If the Tygers can break Hershey loose as they did in the last two games when he registered six touchdowns, Mansfield is likely to avenge the 1938 whipping.

Marantides' place in the Canton offense is similar, runs in the manner of the Mansfield back and kicks and throws as well. The Tygers, in other words, cannot take any liberties with the young man.

Saturday's game, which will be "Dad's Day," by the way, will also be something like a "homecoming" for Jack Dugger, former Tyger star.

Dugger, who enrolled at the Canton school this fall, has been performing spectacularly for the Bulldogs, and has been a standout at an end post since Coach John Reed pulled him out of the backfield, where he was tried at quarterback.

In addition to Marantides and Dugger, Coach Reed has another fine performer in Nick Rotz, a lineman. A 180 pounder, Rotz has had three years of experience at a tackle post.

* * *

There will be little difference in weight of the two lines, and Snyder cannot see where the Canton forwards will hold any edge in ability if the Tygers continue to charge as they have in the last two games.

* * *

Mansfield high officials are prepared to accommodate the season's largest crowd Saturday.

A crowd considerable larger than the assemblage at the Sandusky game is anticipated.

Downtown Coaches To Meet Tonight

Organization plans for the Downtown Coaches Association will be completed at a meeting to be held at the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p. m. today.

The association will be advised in the organization by Herman E. Sayger, of Tiffin, former Heidelberg college athletic director, who heads the National Downtown Coaches association.

The meeting is open to the public, Ned Brooks, chairman of the Mansfield association, said today.

Supplies Bring Crack Team to City Sunday

Carrollton Held Vaunted Akron Awnings to One Touchdown In Recent Game.

WHAT looms as the biggest obstacle tackled on the home field by the Automotive Supplies will be encountered Sunday when the Carrollton Metals semi-pro grid machine unlimbers its touchdown maneuvers at Blue Goose field at 2:30 p. m.

A record turnout is expected to witness the contest, staged as a benefit of Melvin Harner, Supplies' back injured in the initial game of the season.

If advance reports are correct, the Mansfield team faces its stiffest home competition. The Metals have won five, lost two and tied one this season.

* * *

Among the Metals' vanquished foes are the Akron Shamrocks, Columbus and Steubenville. Carrollton held the touted Akron Awnings to a 7 to 0 win and lost a 14 to 0 decision to the McKeesport, Pa., Olympics. Toledo battled the Metals to a tie in their opening game.

* * *

That the Supplies face trouble is indicated in the scoring record of the visiting eleven. In seven games the Metals have tallied 149 points, while holding rivals to 28.

Carrollton's starting forward wall will average 190 pounds, with the backfield around 175.

A number of former college stars are sprinkled through the Metals' starting lineup. Coaching the aggregation is "Butch" Gibson, erstwhile Canton McKinley and New York Giant pro star.

* * *

Included in the lineup are Mel Carpenter, former all-Ohio center at Muskingum, who is coaching at Middlebranch high school, Hendrix, an Indian from Haskell, Vic Duvall of Muskingum, and Rittersbaugh, of Washington and Jefferson.

* * *

In three years this combine has won 20, lost seven and tied three. Its scoring record over that period: Metals 507, rivals 108. The only clubs to hold Carrollton scoreless were the Awnings and Olympics.

Close Grid Schedules This Week

Madison, Bellville and Butler Roll Down Curtain With Saturday's Games.

ARMISTICE DAY will see every high school football team of Richland county in action, with three of the clubs concluding their seasons Saturday.

Victory prospects are rather encouraging for four of the five county teams, too.

* * *

The headline game of the day pits the Mansfield Tygers against Canton McKinley at Stadium field, and Coach Paul Snyder's men are given a slight edge in the pre-game dope.

* * *

Madison's Rams, who upset the dope last week by snapping Bellville's perfect string, goes to Loudonville for a morning game at 10 a. m., and the momentum of their recent triumph should carry them to a rather easy win over the Red Birds.

Shelby, which is host to Galion, is favored to take the Orangemen into camp, but the visitors might make it interesting before they bow.

Bellville should rebound against Butler, which has yet to win a ball game this season, and Howard Hamilton, the state's leading scorer, is expected to add to his lead. This game will mark Bellville's "Homecoming Day."

* * *

Saturday's games will mark the end of the schedules for Madison, Bellville and Butler. Mansfield and Shelby are scheduled to draw the curtain on their regular seasons next week.

* * *

HIGH SCHOOL SCHEDULE
Saturday.
Canton-McKinley at Mansfield, 2:30 p. m.
Madison at Loudonville, 10 a. m.
Butler at Bellville.
Galion at Shelby.

SEEK SECOND WIN

ALLIANCE —(NS)— Mount Union's gridders today went through a tapering-off workout in preparation for their game tomorrow with the Ohio Northern Polar Bears. The Mounts have won only one Ohio Conference encounter, a 34 to 0 triumph over Heidelberg.

Maroon Alumni May Try To Remedy Grid Plight.

CHICAGO —(AP)—Alumni of the University of Chicago appear to be ready to share responsibility for the sad plight of alma mater on the gridiron this season.

Some 200 members of the Chicago Alumni association, meeting yesterday at a downtown hotel, heard the warning that unless alumni made some effort to encourage athletes to attend Chicago "the university will be asked to get out of the Big Ten." That statement was made by John J. Schommer, Big Ten official and one-time star at Chicago.

Indian Added To Mat Card

Cazzell to Meet Layden in Semi-Final Bout Monday.

"Indian Ike" Gazzell, wild half-breed Indian from Laredo, Texas, will make his Mansfield debut Monday night in the Armory when he appears in the semi-final of the second indoor mat show of the season.

* * *

"Indian Ike" has been signed to meet Charley Layden, rugged light heavyweight from Ft. Wayne, Ind., in the special semi-final of the mat card which will be headed by the clash between Walter Miller of Atlanta, Ga., and Josef Morell, Hungarian physical marvel.

* * *

Cazzell and Layden have signed contracts with the Quality Athletic Club to wrestle for two best out of three falls with a 45-minute time limit.

HEAVY FAVORITE

NEW CONCORD —(NS)— Followers of the football eleven of Muskingum college today predicted the Muskies would annihilate Heidelberg when they meet here tomorrow afternoon. Coach "Stu" Holcomb sent the Muskies through a long pass formation workout yesterday.

Ex-Tyger Star to Appear Against Old Mates

Ringside Takes Lead; Grable Shoots 635

THE FIRST PLACE TIE in the Commercial B league between the Ringside Cafe and Mansfield Rugs was broken in favor of the former team when these two clubs met last night at the Meder alleys.

Led by Fritz Vogel's 609, the Ringside keglers took three games from the Rugs. The defeats knocked the Rugs into third place behind the Satterlee Restaurant club, which added a pair of wins at the expense of the Possum Run quintet.

The Mansfield Printers were high in the scoring columns with a 2742 total, which was good for a sweep over Ohio Public Service. Ed Henrich rolled a 607 for the losers.

* * *

Orland Grable of the Shear Room team banged the maples for a 635 count to establish the individual pace in the Westinghouse B league. Grable, who started off with 173 and 209, finished with a spectacular 253 to reach 635.

* * *

Margaret Baker of the Modern Beauty Salon collected a fancy 556 series to gain scoring laurels in the City Women's league. Featuring an opening 223, Miss Baker led her team to a pair of wins over Shelley's Candies.

DRILLS FOR OIL ON TEXAS FOOTBALL FIELD

NACONA, Tex.—(AP)—If they find what they are seeking at Nacona football park the box office won't be the most profitable spot on the field. An oil firm is drilling for oil.

KENT TACKLES RESERVE

KENT — (INS) — Kent State's football eleven will be out to win for their line coach, Wayne Sidinger, when they invade Cleveland tomorrow for a tussle with Western Reserve. Sidinger, who served as freshman coach at the Cleveland college last year, is a graduate of Reserve and was an all-Ohio tackle while a member of the Red Cat team.

GOLF COURSE CLOSES

DAYTON—(AP)—Financial losses last season forced the closing of the Northmoor Country club, J. A. Hawk, president of the board of directors, said today. The club was the site of the 1934 Ohio open and the 1936 Ohio intercollegiate golf tournaments.

GEORGIE PACE TRAINS

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Georgie Pace trained today for his first fight since being crowned world's bantamweight champion. He will box Bobby Docherty, of Toronto, in a 10-round overweight match at Columbus next Monday.

ELECT ROBERTS CAPTAIN

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Cleveland Barons, defending champions of the International-American Hockey league, have elected Moe Roberts, veteran goalie, as captain.

Rose, Eleanor Set Wedding Day

Beauteous Eleanor Holm, above, famed "aquabelle" of the New York world's fair, and Billy Rose, inset, promoter of the fair's Aquacade, will wed Tuesday, Nov. 14. Miss Holm was recently divorced from Art Jarrett, orchestra leader, and Rose was formerly the husband of Fanny Brice, singer and the "Baby Snooks" of radio fame.

THEATERS

"BAD LITTLE ANGEL" is the title for the latest picture of one of the screen's best troupers—Virginia Weidler. Virginia is one of the youngsters who came in on a popular wave during the time the movies were being "cleaned up," an era which started Shirley Temple, Mickey Rooney and Jane Withers on the road to big money. Virginia, not so pretty as Shirley, but with plenty of dramatic talent, has been shoved around in a lot of stupid pictures. Probably her best role was in "The Women" in which she played the heart-broken child of divorced parents, who tried desperately to bring them together again. As an actress Virginia was not overshadowed even by Joan Crawford nor Norma Shearer in that film opus. In "Bad Little Angel," she plays the leading role.

* * *

Early American Drama.

Walter D. Edmond's gripping novel "Drums Along The Mohawk" has been picturized under the guidance of Darryl Zanuck, and if the film has one-tenth of the action and stirring human drama that were between the covers of the book, it should be a picture to see and remember. The book is the epical tragedy of the American frontiersmen and their women who pushed ahead the frontiers in the Mohawk valley after the close of the American Revolution, when drums in the night warned settlers that the Redskins were on a scalping spree. The film is in technicolor and has Henry Fonda and Claudette Colbert. It opens at the Ohio tomorrow.

* * *

Bumsteads At Madison.

Once a Bumstead—always in trouble. Blondie and her family proved it in their first screen venture and drove home the fact in "Blondie Meets the Boss" and "Blondie Takes A Vacation." Now in the fourth episode of this popular series of pictures based on the newspaper cartoon strip, "Blondie Brings Up Baby," and there's more trouble. It all starts when she buys a 12-volume encyclopedia on how to bring up a baby. To the consternation of Dagwood, Baby Dumpling, Daisy and their little neighbor, Alvin, she proceeds to regulate Baby's life according to the encyclopedia. This new Blondie episode is scheduled for the Madison tomorrow and the first of the week.

* * *

Six-Gun Action.

There is six-gun action of the Hopalong Cassidy brand as the boys of Bar 20 lay down the law of the Pampas on America's last frontier. "Law of The Pampas" with William Boyd, Sidney Toler, Steffi Duna, Sidney Blackmer and Russel Hayden, is a current attraction at the Majestic and moves against Argentine music. Steffi Duna, who is one of the brightest dancing stars at Hollywood's La Conga night spot these days, does some of her fast stepping in this picture. Also shown is "You Can't Get Away With Murder."

* * *

Crooks Against Crook.

All Scotland Yard turns out to look for a band of international crooks, and then is confronted by the fact that the most famous outlaw of them all is in London. How these two forces meet, the one conquered by the other, is told in "The Saint in London," with George Sanders. The Park is showing this, along with "Come and Get It," the picture made from Edna Ferber's famous novel of the same name. Edward Arnold plays the lusty self-made lumber baron, and Frances Farmer and Leif Erickson are in the cast.

* * *

Night Riders.

Tall 'n' Handsome John Wayne and his Mesquiteers come to the rescue again in "The Night Riders" when a spurious land grant of 13,000,000 acres is given to a Spaniard, and in turn the Spaniard claims a high rental fee from all of the persons living on the land. Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune and Wayne the the Three Mesquiteers. Also on the Ritz bill today and tomorrow is "The Gracie Allen Murder Case," with Gracie as a detective.

Nine College Teams Wind Up Grid Campaigns Saturday

De Sales, Only Unbeaten Ohio Club, Finishes First Season By Playing Grand Rapids.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Nine of Ohio's collegiate football teams wind up their 1939 campaigns this week-end in 24 contests involving Buckeye squads. Two others, Ashland and Kenyon, finished a week ago.

Appearing for the last time this week are De Sales, only unbeaten aggregation in the state; Hiram, which boasts Ohio's leading scorer in Bob Bloom; Ohio Northern, Findlay, Capital, Marietta and Otterbein of the Ohio conference, and unattached Rio Grande and Defiance.

* * *

Ohio State's rampaging Bucks, No. 1 team in the Western conference, are certain to stay at the top through the week-end, if anything is certain this topsy-turvy season. The Ohioans are slated for a Saturday afternoon parade over Chicago's Maroons on the Lake Michigan waterfront, and the only pre-game question was whether the Bucks would win by a greater margin than that to be rolled up over the midway team next week by Oberlin.

* * *

Coach Francis Schmidt said his first-stringers would be yanked from the arena as soon as they could pile up a couple of touchdowns, but even that action was not expected to hold the score down. In previous contests the Buck second and third stringers have been as potent as the No. 1 eleven.

Aside from the Buck-Maroon afternoon tea, which the customers are expected to ignore in big bunches, games involving Ohio teams will have little or no bearing on the championship races. Muskingum has the Ohio conference laurels tucked away, regardless of the outcome with Heidelberg's Student Princes Saturday.

De Sales winds up its first year of gridiron activity Friday by meeting Grand Rapids on the Michigan gridiron, while Youngstown goes to Cookeville, Tenn., for a scrap with Tennessee Tech under the lights.

* * *

The rest of the games are Saturday affairs, except Sunday's event between Dayton and Xavier at Cincinnati.

* * *

The Saturday games:

Ohio State at Chicago, Heidelberg at Muskingum, Wittenberg at Marietta, Denison at Oberlin, Case at Wooster, Bowling Green at Findlay, Ohio Northern at Mt. Union, Capital at Otterbein, Alfred Holbrook vs. Morehead at Morehead, Ky.; Boston university at Cincinnati, Baldwin Wallace at Akron, Defiance vs. St. Marys at St. Marys, Mich.; Miami at Ohio university; Ohio Wesleyan vs. Center at Danville, Ky.; Clarion at Hiram, Assumption (Canada) at Bluffton, Kentucky State at Wilberforce, Kent State at Western Reserve, Morris Harvey at Rio Grande, Arkansas A. & M. at John Carroll, and Toledo vs. Marshall at Huntington, W. Va.

PAM—A New Complication! By A. W. Brewerton

A NURSE AT HOPE HOSPITAL HAS JUST CALLED PAM!
OH—SHE'S COME TO—SHE'S CONSCIOUS NOW!—OH—I'M SO GLAD!—HOW IS SHE FEELING ?
WHY—I—I'VE SOME NEWS FOR YOU THAT—THAT ISN'T QUITE SO GOOD!—AS FAR AS THE DOCTORS CAN TELL SHE—
11-10
—APPEARS QUITE ALL RIGHT PHYSICALLY—BUT—SINCE SHE CAME OUT OF THAT COMA, HER—HER MIND SEEMS TO BE A BLANK!—SHE CAN RE-MEMBER NOTHING!
MAYBE IF YOU COULD COME, SEEING YOU MIGHT HELP HER!
COLONEL—SHE'S CONSCIOUS AGAIN—BUT SHE'S LOST HER MEMORY!—CAN'T EVEN REMEMBER HER NAME! CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY SHE SHOULD BE THERE—HER MIND'S A COMPLETE BLANK!
I KNOW YOU'D LIKE TO SEE HER—GO AHEAD—I'VE NOTH-ING FOR YOU TO DO RIGHT NOW!
WILL SEEING PAM RESTORE JENNY WARREN'S MEMORY ?

MACHINES REAP CORN HARVEST

Replacing Huskers Who Won Name by Skill, Because of Greater Volume.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Corn huskers who harvest the nation's vast corn crop and prided themselves on their skill are being supplanted by machines.

The Agriculture Department estimated that a considerable part of this year's 1,500,000-bushel corn crop would be harvested by the 70,000 mechanical corn pickers on farms. In 1920 there were only 10,000 such pickers.

Last year about 43 per cent of the corn acreage in Illinois was harvested by mechanical pickers and about 35 per cent in Iowa and Minnesota. This year the percentage in these principal producing states will be larger.

The department's estimate for other corn states showed mechanical pickers harvested 22 per cent of the crop in Indiana, 18 per cent in South Dakota, 12 per cent in Iowa, and about 5 per cent in Michigan, North Dakota and Wisconsin.

Adoption of the power take-off, the wagon hitch and the mounted picker are improvements which led farmers to purchase 28,000 mechanical pickers during the past two years, the department said.

Used mainly on the most productive corn acreage, the pickers last year covered about 13 per cent of corn acreage in the nation, but gathered about 20 per cent of the crop, the department said.

The department estimated that the one-row picker results in a saving of one-third in labor costs and that the two-row picker saves half on labor costs. A one-row picker will harvest 80 to 100 acres of corn.

Columbus Lady Tells of Quick Relief From Awful Backache

Wants everyone suffering same way to know that Vendol acted as dieuretic to kidneys and relieved constipation, then relief was amazing. Advises all to try this medicine.

MRS. AGNES NICHOLSON

"I am so pleased over the way Vendol brought such wonderful relief and actually made me feel like new, that I want to advise all suffering like I did to try this excellent Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine," said Mrs. Agnes Nicholson of 250 South 5th street, Columbus, Ohio, whose husband has held the important position of Night Steward at the Neil House Hotel for ten years.

"While it seemed like everything in the world was wrong with me, I found out that all these symtoms were due to need of a diuretic to my kidneys and something to give thorough relief from constipation, and that is exactly what Vendol did in a hurry.

"After getting this relief from constipation I soon noticed the pains in the muscles of my back were gone and whereas before if I stooped or bent over the pains were awful. I could now do all of this and never suffer in the slightest. Before the pains often kept me awake; now my sleep was unbroken and restful.

"I do not hesitate to advise anyone suffering like I did, if from the same causes, to begin at once taking Vendol and I know they will get marvelous relief too."

You can get the same relief from aching, painful muscles in your neck, arms, shoulders, back and limbs if these pains are due to constipation or need of a diuretic to your kidneys by taking Vendol, which is a pleasant medicine made from extracts of Roots and Herbs with Alkalines added for extra benefits. Vendol has brought relief to hundreds of people living all around here, so there is no reason why it won't do it for you. Don't put it off; start taking Vendol today and see for yourself what marvelous relief it will give.

Give Vendol a chance to help you, too. Try this medicine made from extract of Roots and Herbs with Alkalines added. All leading drug stores sell it, and the Vendol Man is daily at Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., to explain all about it, so see him today.

5 CHECKS HIKE COUNTY FUNDS

Richland Gets $12,122 From State in Operating and Relief Monies.

Richland county added $12,122 to its operating and relief funds today after receiving five checks for that amount from the state.

The largest check—for $8,277—represented the county's share of sales tax money last month and will be used for operating expenses by the county's subdivisions. About $400 was deducted from the county's sales tax allocation by the state to apply on an old debt the county owes the state.

Another check for $1,609 represents the county's share of beer, malt and admission taxes The money will be used for relief bills

Two checks totaling $1,975 will go into the county fund for aid to dependent children. Of that amount, $1,150 was contributed by the state and $825 by the federal government The county will supplement the federal and state money.

A check for $261 covered the federal government's allocation for November to the county aid to the blind program. Additional funds will be supplied by the state and county.

2,500 MEMBERS GOAL OF SHELBY RED CROSS UNIT

Volunteer Workers Set to Open Annual Three-Day Roll Call on Nov. 21.

SHELBY—Nearly 100 volunteer workers will take part in the annual Red Cross Roll Call in Shelby on Nov. 20, 21 and 22. This year 2,500 members are the goal for the Shelby Roll call. Last year some 2,200 members were registered.

No dinner meeting will be held this year, Postmaster Leo McGaw, roll call chairman, announced today, but tentative plans are being made to hold a workers' conference at the postoffice building on Sunday, Nov. 19, Mrs. L. N. Hoffman, Shelby chapter president, will preside at the conference. Instructions and supplies will be given out to the workers.

Workers appointed today by Chairman McGaw are as follows:

Ward 1—Precinct A, Mrs. Julius Sutter, chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Rothlisberger, Mrs. L. B. Summer, Mrs. Willis Rohrer; Mrs. John McNamara, Mrs. Nellie Carroll, Mrs. Marion Easterday, Mrs. Milton Stricker and Mrs. Woodburn Armstrong; Precinct B, Mrs. Clayton Mayer, chairman; Mrs. B. V. Munchausen, Mrs. L. G. Innis, Mrs. Ed Shaw, Miss Rudy Summer, Miss Amy Esterline and Mrs. John Plank.

Ward 2—Precinct A, Mrs. Harvey Mullett, chairman; Mrs. H. H. Sissinger, Miss Alta Markley, Mrs. J. Yeagley, Mrs. John Yetzer, Mrs. B. F. Long, Mrs. Henry Keiser, Mrs. William Shafer, Miss Anna Dalton, Dooley Roberts and Miss Lettie Yetzer; and Precinct B, Mrs. Stacy Haun, chairman; Mrs. Frank Hanno, Mrs. Clyde Brokaw, Mrs. Charles Dye, Mrs. Lloyd Ritchey, Mrs. Victor Simon, Mrs. Leo Price, Mrs. George Williams and Miss May Nimmons.

Ward 3—Precinct A, Mrs. James Wentz, chairman; Mrs. H. N. Aumend, Mrs. Henry Soll, Mrs. John Ray, Mrs. C. L. Beal, Mrs. C. W. Swank, and Mrs. Ralph Johnston; and Precinct B, Mrs. Joseph Yohn, chairman; Mrs. Nellie Oates, Mrs. Rose Bringham, Mrs. Wayne Carleton, Miss Sadie Buck, Mrs. Owen Bricker and Mrs. George Jones.

Ward 4—Precinct A, Mrs. Walter Benedict, chairman; Mrs. Robbert Hurl, Mrs. Fern Hyde, Mrs. C. G. Keck, Mrs. Arthur Barnes, Mrs. Hal Culberworth and Mrs. Elmer Shaw; and Precinct B, Mrs. E. L. Roberts, chairman; Mrs. Milan Frees, Mrs. J. C. Morris, Mrs. Foster Reynolds, Mrs. W. R. Kerr, Miss Pearl Morris, Mrs. W. R. Morris, and Mrs. Arthur Shreffler.

Business district—Gerald Dennis, chairman; George Reichert, Clarence Stroup, Harry Sotzen, G. W. Williams, Julius Sutter, Spencer Kerr, Robert Green and W. R. Morris; and offices and factories, Mac Crawford, chairman.

Shelby

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bestor of Dayton are the parents of a son. Mrs. Bestor was formerly Miss Doris Patrie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Patrie of Shelby.

Over 50 members were present Thursday night at the regular weekly meeting of the Bible Study class at First Methodist church. Thurman Black led the class in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Arthur Staples.

Plans for a social meeting in two weeks at the home of the Misses Mary Hursh and Mildred Sima were made this week when a business session was held by the Beta Kappa Tau sorority at the home of Miss Betty Hollinger.

Mrs. Helen Cameron of Oberlin was the inspecting officer for the regular inspection of the Women's Relief corps here this week.

The members of the Shelby chapter of the Alpha Pi Sigma sorority will be guests at a special party and get-together to be held later this month at Bucyrus.

Mrs. Roy Loomis and Mrs. John Bloom won the contest prizes when the members of the Dizzy Dollar club met recently at the home of Mrs. R. N. Wittel. Plans were made for the club to meet next month for a regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed Lewis.

BARNEY SHADEL DIES AT AGE 82

Lifelong Resident of Washington Township Survived by Wife.

Barney Shadel, 82, died Thursday at the home of his son, Todd Shadel, in Washington township following a brief illness. He was born April 2, 1857, in Washington township and spent his entire life in this vicinity.

Surviving are his wife, Jennie; a daughter, Mrs. J. V. Ainsworth, of Mansfield; a son, Todd, and four grandchildren. Mr. Shadel was a member of the First Lutheran church of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Waggoner funeral home where services will be held at 2:00 p. m. Saturday with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

BELLVILLE—Mrs. Levi Fry was hostess to the Ladies' Missionary society of the Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon. The acting president, Mrs. Mina Leedy, conducted the business period and Mrs. Dorothy O'Morrow was program leader. "Madras" was the subject of the study hour with other subjects open for discussion.

Preaches at Rally

Rev. H. E. Williamson of Canton, above, president of Camp Sychar, near Mt. Vernon, is one of two ministers who will preach at an all-day interdenominational rally today at First United Brethren church, being sponsored by the camp group. Rev. Williamson speaks at 7:45 p. m. Rev. J. Glenn Gould of East Cleveland preached at 10:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. services.

small districts of bordering counties.

L. L. Rinehart of Sandusky township, who had enough of a lead in Richland county alone to assure his re-election, gained 56 votes in the returns yesterday from Huron county. His total vote now is 2,685.

C. L. Bloom of Shiloh, the fourth candidate, added 64 votes in Huron county, but he is too far behind the others to win. He now has a total of 1,616 votes. Only two members were to be elected to the board.

At Lexington, C. A. Stull and Maurice Ritchie were elected to the school board in Tuesday's voting. It was erroneously reported yesterday that Ritchie and Ralph E. DeWitt were elected. DeWitt was topped by Stull by a slight margin.

The election board today was making an official count of the ballots cast Tuesday. Clerk A. F. Porter said the board will complete the work and announce the official vote by Monday. Only minor errors have been found so far in the re-check, he said.

He pointed out that the re-check may eliminate a tie between two candidates for Plymouth township trustee and make it unnecessary to flip a coin to determine the winner. The unofficial count gave S. H. Carnahan and Virgil Baird 241 votes each for the office.

If the tie remains after the re-check is made and defaced ballots are examined, the coin flipping will be conducted in the board of elections office.

COUNTY NATIVE DIES IN TIRO

F. P. Dick, 93, Ill One Year, Made Home With Daughter, Mrs. Felter.

TIRO—Franklin Pierce Dick, 93, retired farmer, died Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. W. Felter, with whom he had made his home for several years. He had been ill for about a year. He was born in Richland county, Nov. 18, 1835, and was a member of the United Brethren church of Tiro.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Sara Funk, Kansas City, Mo., Mrs. Wilda Cook, Dayton, and Mrs. Felter; and a sister, Mrs. Minnie DeWitt, Willard.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the United Brethren church, with Rev. Victor Roebuck officiating. Burial will be in the Nevada cemetery.

HUNTS 86 YEARS

Marion Man, 96, Seeks First Pheasant With Muzzle Loader.

MARION—(INS)—Using a muzzle loading gun, 96-year-old Joseph Mills today tramped through the fields in search of game just as enthusiastically as younger contemporaries with modern equipment. Although he has hunted since he was 10, Mills has never bagged a pheasant. His ambition this season is to kill one of the cagy birds.

lation in connection with Germany's aims.

At Munich, investigation of the beer hall explosion was pressed forward vigorously.

With hundreds already under arrest and being questioned, German authorities indicated belief that foreign agents were responsible for the attempt to kill Hitler. Accusations were hurled against Britain.

Munich authorities announced that parts of the time bomb had been found and that clues already discovered showed that experts had made careful preparations for the blast.

Belgian Ministers to Confer With Germans.

BRUSSELS—(INS)—Relations between Nazi Germany and Belgium took an unexpected turn today when it was learned that two members of the Belgian ministry of foreign affairs would arrive in Berlin tomorrow "for economic negotiations."

The prospective mission became known at a moment when Belgium and the Netherlands were swept by fears of a possible German invasion and all preparations were completed for immediate evacuation of this country by British nationals.

A Belgian government spokesman, discussing the mission to Berlin, stated that "political problems" would not have any place in the discussions.

bequeathed the estate to the Good Samaritan hospital in Galion and the Methodist Children's home at Worthington.

His decision holds that the property passed to the widow at the death of Mr. Flowers 21 years ago and that it was hers to distribute as she pleased. She died in 1933. Mr. Flowers' will had bequeathed the property to his wife and after her death it was to be administered as a perpetual trust for the benefit of the Methodist board of missions, the First Methodist church at Galion and the Mansfield Salvation Army.

The wrangle over the estate has been in the courts for nearly five years and last year it went to the Ohio Supreme court which held in favor of the Flowers heirs.

When Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, in compliance with the high court ruling, ordered the estate distributed to them, council for the organizations named by the late Mrs. Flowers contested the decision and asked for a new hearing.

CLOSE DRIVE

SHELBY—Tabulation of the workers' reports on the annual one-day Shelby Community Chest drive held Thursday here was still underway today, in charge of the executive committee. Shelby's goal this year is $14,000 as compared with $15,000 last year.

The one-day drive was conducted by some 100 workers under the same set-up as used last year. Only factories, business places and other industrial interests were solicited by the workers as is the usual custom.

Heading the drive again this year was L. N. Hoffman, general chairman. Assisting on the executive committee are Orin Pfahler, secretary-treasurer; F. C. Long, L. A. Malone, Mrs. Charles Dye, Chester Monn, F. B. Stevens, and L. A. Dennis.

ASHLAND—Pleading guilty to the assault of a 15 year old boy, Fred Beach, Ruggles, was fined $10 and costs on being arraigned before Justice of the Peace Armstrong here. Beach who appeared at the hearing of his own free will, was not taken into custody, but was informed of the charges brought against him by Coloran Robinson, also of Ruggles. Beach paid his fine and costs.

CORONER ROBBED

Montgomery Official Kidnaped by Youths, Loses $21.

DAYTON—(U.P.)—Dr. R. D. Snyder, Montgomery coroner, was kidnaped near Miami Valley hospital last night by two youths who forced him to drive into the country, where they robbed him of $21; Dr. Snyder said they pointed pistols at him when he left the hospital after performing an operation.

FRENCH CALLED AVID FOR TEST

Expert Says Few Days of Fine Weather Might Bring Start of Serious Warfare.

war when Germany was tied up in Poland, especially why the Allies had not tried to divert some German airplanes from the unfortunate Poles by attacking German military positions on this side.

In his answer was contained the whole thesis of the overwhelming importance of the air arm in modern war.

"The Germans know how important this is," he said, "and you will note how they are now conserving their forces since their catastrophic failures in bombing the British fleet, especially at Scapa Flow. They lost 50 per cent of their squadrons in these attacks, and no air force can stand that.

"Air fighting, more than any other kind, depends upon morale. My regiment of infantry in the last war could lose 50 per cent and hang on, take reinforcements and within a couple of weeks be all right again. The air force can't do that. That is the reason the Germans had to quit."

Illustrating the effect of morale in air fighting, the officer revealed that in the recent sensational French victory in which nine French planes attacked 27 German planes and brought down nine without any loss, the French craft were attached to the famous "Lafayette Escadrille," which is a continuation of the old American Lafayette squadron.

He also revealed that the commander of the victorious French this time was an old-time member who had shot down 11 planes in the last war.

In the opinion of this very authoritative officer, this action demonstrated the moral superiority of the French over the German fliers, who as a rule are commanded by an experienced aviator who served in Spain and Poland, but whose companion pilots often are youths with insufficient training.

German anti-aircraft gunnery, he said, was excellent.

The officer paid high praise to the American-made Curtiss planes used by the French.

"When a Curtiss plane goes into a fight," he said, "it proves itself superior to the German Messerschmidt."

"But the thing to remember is this. My father served in 1870 against the Germans. I served in 1914 and our sons are serving now. But this time we shall never let this thing be repeated. This time we are determined to go on fighting until Europe can be assured for as far as one can see into the future against another one of these interminable and intolerable assaults by Germany."

DIES ON VISIT

J. M. Appleman, 82, Formerly of Perrysville, Stricken.

PERRYSVILLE—J. M. Appleman, 82, whom as "Tom" Appleman, and who had been the stationary engineer at the pumping station here for 49 years, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Hughes, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Appleman left here in April to make their home with a daughter in Battle Creek, Mich., and his death occured while visiting here.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie; two daughters, Mrs. Allie Garrett of Mansfield and Mrs. Eva Davis of Battle Creek, and three sisters, Mrs. Anna Gilkinson, Mrs. Charles Eyerly and Mrs. Sampson Miles, all of Mansfield. Three brothers preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at the Hughes home at 1:30 p. m. Sunday at the Perrysville Methodist church at 2:30, with Rev. I. K. Umbarger of Mansfield in charge. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

DISMISSED FROM HOSPITAL

BUCYRUS—Mrs. S. I. Zechiel of Culver, Ind., who suffered severe injuries in an automobile accident near Oceola, Oct. 19, was dismissed from City hospital Thursday. Mrs. Zechiel suffered a fractured shoulder, in the accident in which a niece riding with her also was injured.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1939.

It takes at least an occasional "upset" to make football games interesting.

There's been a price advance in stuffing for pillows—or, as is quite appropriate nowadays, down is up.

National Education week is another of those special occasions that might better be extended through the entire year.

Looking Toward United Europe

DISCUSSION of European troubles by well-informed Dr. Emil Lengyel before a large Mansfield audience Wednesday evening was given added interest as a result of the attempt made on the same day to assassinate Chancellor Hitler, an interesting character analysis of whom entered into Dr. Lengyel's address.

The speaker's explanation of Hitler's weird behavior, based on his being a paranoiac, is in accord with other medical and psychological estimates of the once inconspicuous paper hanger who rose to amazing power in Europe and whose influence is now being felt throughout the world.

The vision of a United States of Europe, which has long been nurtured in the minds of idealistic thinkers, will probably continue as the dream of successive generations until its eventual accomplishment—for such an achievement will rank in importance with attainment of permanent world peace and the prophesied millennium.

Meanwhile, however, there will be an advantage in realizing that the death of Hitler, or any other one man, will not solve the immediate problems of central Europe and that it is the CAUSES of Hitlerism that must be revealed, understood and corrected before anything like a United States of Europe can be brought about.

Talks such as that given by Dr. Lengyel tend to extend public knowledge of world affairs and to induce thought along lines which lead to better understanding of present-day happenings at home and abroad. Officials of Delano lodge are to be commended for their policy of bringing outstanding men to Mansfield to speak on timely subjects.

Breaking the Blockade

WITH the British and French now free to buy all the American munitions and supplies they are able to ferry across the Atlantic, the war enters a new phase.

Nazi authorities have hinted darkly at a far more vigorous and relentless submarine warfare to keep such war stuff from reaching the allies. "Now all that remains," says a Berlin observer, "is to see whether Britain and France can get the stuff across."

If they can do so, in quantities which insure the democracies a superiority in fighting power, the present static warfare may not develop into the active stage, with fighting on a vast scale. The Nazis may then recognize the futility of a big struggle, and make a compromise peace. But it seems unlikely that they will give up without making at least one big push, with all the means in their power, to break through the blockade and cripple their enemies' sources of supply.

Cleveland's Tree Census

A WPA TREE CENSUS has just been completed in Cleveland, a city that used to be proud of the title "Forest City" Now that the final report has been turned in, the job is described as thorough and useful. The city expects to develop a reforesting program based on the requirements and shortcomings shown by the census.

Cleveland has learned that it has 118,164 trees valued at $7,000,000. There are 50,000 maples, 20,000 sycamores, 20,000 elms, and smaller numbers of 102 other species. About one-eighth of the elms are infected. as are some of the maples and sycamores. Many can be saved by prompt treatment.

The city has learned also that it has many undesirable trees, poplars or silver maples, that clog up sewers with their roots, send up too many suckers, are subject to fungus, or break too easily in wind and sleet storms. It is hoped that they may be gradually removed and their places given to trees more suitable.

Trees are of great value. for their beauty and shade and for the shelter they afford to birds, which in turn destroy many insect pests and so help to maintain a balance in the natural life of the city.

Not Hard to Understand

PREMIER MOLOTOV, in a recent speech, says he can't understand Finland's refusal to accept a mutual assistance pact with Russia like those which Russia has made with other Baltic states, Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

The rest of the world, however, understands it well enough. Finland knows that if the Russian Bear once gets his foot in the door, the whole body will follow.

The little neighbors referred to have already lost the mastery of their own houses. The Finns fortunately are stronger and more populous. and have stiffer backbones. Their courageous stand against encroachment of the Red giant is the most inspiring and reassuring thing that has happened lately in the great struggle between dictatorship and democracy.

Earn More, Spend More, Save More

WITH no more than seven per cent of the world's population. the United States accounts for 70 per cent of all the world's life insurance.

Life insurance. in any of its many forms. represents the ability of people to anticipate future needs and to recognize individual responsibility to provide a backlog of security for self and dependents.

While Americans spend more for luxuries than the people of any other country—because they earn more and have more—it is also interesting to note that education in thrift is being steadily extended.

The Critical Years

THE middle years may be the hardest. Dr. Elliott C. Cutler of Harvard says: "Elderly persons who have survived the breakdown period, which comes from 40 to 60 years, when there is danger of apoplexy, kidney and heart ailments, are good surgical risks."

Here is reassurance, anyway, for those past 60. Those who have gone that far without any major breaks in their organic system are either pretty tough or have taken good care of themselves, and may have a reasonable expectation of another good decade or two.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—These little girls married well. They were Ann and Jane and Jackie and Emily and then Ann again. They also danced well. They were so good at it that they earned their livelihood as dancing instructresses. Their rich clients just naturally fell in love with them and whisked them away.

For Emily, romance came like this. Her last name was Burrow. She was one of Arthur Murray's dancing teachers. To those halls of terpsichorean instruction in the lower Forties one day came Dr. Hans Syz, the noted Swiss surgeon. He was a seeker-after-knowledge — tango knowledge. Sheer chance sent Emily in to teach him. Dr. Syz promptly took up where chance left off, and now Emily is Mrs. Dr. Hans Syz.

Then there was Ann — Ann Dawson. You could say ditto to the first story and have all the details correct, except as to names. In this case romance was John Greer, a Detroit financier, who visited Manhattan once each year, and who always dropped around for a lesson or two. He liked dancing. It gave him relaxation. And Ann liked to teach dancing. One day the financier found himself more interested in his instructress than he was in the instruction. Net result: rice and old shoes.

* * *

AND now another fiancier approaches the altar—Mr. W. W. Founce, of Philadelphia. When he confessed to Mr. Murray that he desired dancing instruction, Mr. Murray nodded understandingly and pressed a small button. Presently a demure miss came out. "Mr. Founce," said he, "this is Jackie—Jackie Simms." Mr. Founce said enthusiastically, "Hello-o-oo-, Jackie." Probably Miss Simms swept him a curtsey. In any case, it wasn't long before Mr. Founce, of Philadelphia, had himself a brown-eyed bride.

You could go on like this a long, long time. It must be something in the air. or the drinking water. . . . Murray finds himself a new dancing teacher, and then it happens. . . . Boy meets Murray. . . . Murray presses button. . . . Out comes girl. . . . Boy . . . meets Girl. . . . Boy and Girl say, "Goodbye, Mr. Murray," and there stands Arthur, wondering where he can find another girl.

That's the way romance blossoms every day in Manhattan. For bachelors who are interested. the number is MUrray Hill 2-4647.

* * *

BOB CROSBY believes the reason there aren't more girl orchestra leaders than there are is because women haven't the stamina to lead, or play in, a swing band. After you play a wind instrument for a certain length of time, it changes your features. Your face is actually pretty plastic. and the features shape themselves accordingly. Playing will harden facial muscles, and force out the lips, says Bob, which isn't a very attractive picture, when you think about it.

It isn't unusual to see crowds reading signs on 6th avenue employment bureaus, which list such employment notices as Cook wanted. chauffeur wanted. etc.

But one of the newspapers has a scheme that is interesting to behold. Every day it prints galleyproofs of the "Held Wanted" column in its ads, on shiny, white paper. and passes them out to white-collar seekers-after-employment. You'll find this at the paper's circulation station, on Broadway.

Some Factors In Athletic Efficiency

—By DR. CLENDENING

Are strength and physical fitness the determining factors in athletic efficiency?

No. According to a London physician, physical fitness and athletic efficiency are by no means the same thing. A man may be physically fit and yet be a very poor athlete. Many star athletes are discovered in the midst of their careers to have tuberculosis—even extensive tuberculosis. The factors that make for athletic efficiency are difficult to define or detect, and simple tests are probably as satisfactory as more elaborate methods. The best methods measure the response of the circulation to effort—pulse rate and blood pressure. But blood pressure tests are fallacious on account of the emotional factor. The rate at which the pulse slows after a short, intense effort is the most reliable test. The superman athlete has a superiority of only about four per cent over the first class athlete, but that four per cent does the trick.

* * *

Are some people more susceptible to insect bites than others, just as some are more susceptible to plant contacts—poison ivy and hay fever?

Undoubtedly. The reaction to insect bites is a form of immunity or allergy and affects people in different degrees. As in most cases of immunity, the newcomer to a region suffers the most severely. It is often noticed by fishermen that the guides or boatmen who live in the district are not affected by mosquitoes at all, and do not pay any attention to them, while the members of the fishing party are "eaten up."

Then we all know the fellow who wails that "they simply poison me."

Some San Francisco doctors have produced an antigen against flea bites.

"California, and particularly San Francisco bay region, abounds in fleas, which do not encroach on the rights of the local population, but are the source of great misery to newcomers until they acquire immunity. This usually takes several months to several years, and in rare instances is never acquired."

There is definite evidence that the fleas' selection of their victims is no at matter of chance. The flea knows who will be poisoned by his bite! The flea antigen desensitizes against the reaction to flea bites.

Debt Monument Piled Higher.

Amid the present distractions of the international situation, people of the United States should not lose sight of one matter which is of extraordinary importance to them. This is the monument to the New Deal administration which is being piled higher and higher with each succeeding month. The United States treasury figures show the debt now above 41 billions after adding three billions within the year.

Along with this main monument to New Deal extravagance is a lesser one of five billions which does not show on the regular books. That represents the obligations of the official governmental corporations and lending agencies. Any of these that are not paid will be made good out of the taxpayers' pocket. So the New Dealers actually have gone beyond the legal borrowing limit now and have given no hint yet of a halt in piling more billions onto the monumental deficit.—Toledo Blade.

You Don't Like Me? What of It?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU don't like me? I make you mad? Why can't I always write pretty, the way I do sometimes? Every day letters like that. Lots of them. Here goes for answering them all with one wallop.

Why don't I always talk pretty? Because I don't always think pretty. Neither does life. And in my feeble way, I'm trying to interpret life in this corner.

But you don't like it? I offend and shock you? Well, what of it? What does it matter whether you like me or not—agree with me or not?—so long as I'm good for what ails you? And I am good for what ails you. Here's why.

You're dissatisfied. Things may look well enough on the surface. You may seem to be sitting pretty—good job, nice home, loving family. Yet, deep within, there's something wrong. You're restless . . . resentful . . . vaguely unhappy. Feel that somehow life has cheated you . . . that you're not getting enough out of it.

And you're NOT. But it isn't life's fault—it's your own. Life holds all the wherewithal of adventure. And you want adventure. You're hungry for it . . . bored with the monotony of your own limited program . . . maddened by the futility of your own trivial experiments. If only you could live on a larger, more vivid scale . . . do something different, something dramatic!

You CAN! You've only to reach out and walk out. Reach out into new interests. Walk out on new trails. Dare to doubt . . . dare to ask . . . dare to rebel. You can live larger, live new, any moment you choose. You need only enlarge your own mental horizon.

That's where this column comes in. It doesn't claim to be pretty or polite or correct. But it WILL enlarge your mental horizon if you give it a chance. It will stimulate your curiosity, quicken your imagination, revive your dreams, set your feet on a new trail. This column can do all these things for you. Then why doesn't it? Because you won't let it!

You won't let it—sez you—because you "don't like me!" You don't like my slang . . . my criticism . . . my snickers at sentimentality and jeers at conventionality . . . don't believe anyone "should talk so free and reckless." Moreover, you don't agree with my conclusions . . . think they're "dangerous."

All right, suppose you don't—what of it? I don't matter. My advice doesn't matter. It's entirely unimportant whether you like me or not. S'matter of fact, I detest myself at times. And find my own advice completely cockeyed!

But the thing that does matter is that this column makes you think. It doesn't flatter you or coddle you or help you be sorry for yourself. But it does make you think. And the madder you get, the more it makes you think. You can't get burnt up at me without wondering whether I'm right. Do such conditions really exist? Are you possibly to blame for your own bad luck, as I say you are? All of which, I repeat, is exactly what you need for what ails you.

Why's your life colorless and unsatisfactory? Because you don't run enough risks, ask enough questions, start enough rebellions. In short—you don't think enough. You're in a rut, and it's smothering you.

This column is just one of the things you need to jolt you out of that rut. Doesn't matter a hoot whether you like the jolter or not. Or whether her dope is correct or not! The important thing is that YOU . . . GET . . . JOLTED . . . and I'll guarantee to do it.

But will you let me I wonder. Probably not. For jolting is a hazardous proceeding. It's apt to raise Cain with your comfort, cowardice and deceit. And so—you duck it. And pretend it's because you don't approve of me.

G'wan, be yourself! The plain truth is—you like to talk about being a Gypsy, but when someone hands you the makings—you just can't take it!

Ohio Anecdotes

White Renegades.

White men turned renegade were a dangerous and constant peril to incoming Ohio settlers via river routes, because they would lure unsuspecting flatboats to the shore so Indians could attack and plunder the settler's provisions.

A renegade would stand on shore, baiting the settlers to come ashore by telling them a woeful tale of his unfortunate plight, then his Indian conspirators would appear.

John May, in whose honor Maysville, Ky., was named, was killed in a hand to hand encounter under just such circumstances on the Ohio river at the mouth of the Scioto.

Rufus Putnam, realizing the practice had to be broken up, successfully petitioned Fort Washington (Cincinnati) for soldiers to be stationed at the Scioto's mouth for settlers' protection. The Indians, thus thwarted, returned to their villages and the practice stopped.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Real Treasure

You think that life is treasure wrung
By wit, by luck, to hold
Against all comers, you believe
That life is bound by gold.

Nay, nothing could be more absurd.
Truth is as poets tell.
Their songs extolling fragrances,
The tinkle of a bell,

The heights that dreaming seeks to find,
These songs are truth's clear call,
And he who heeds it treasure knows
Of certain best, life's all.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—It's all being done quietly, but Senator Bob Taft's drive for the 1940 GOP nomination really is going places.

The Ohioan's managers are losing no time in corralling the key southern leaders who are able to deliver entire blocs of delegates from the southern states Already signed up and working hard for Taft are John Marshall of West Virginia, assistant attorney general and one of the patronage dispensers under Coolidge; also the famous Perry Howard of Mississippi, colored national committeeman and veteran delegate wrangler.

Howard was an important figure in the pre-convention Hoover campaign of 1928 and has ridden herd on Southern delegate groups at many GOP conventions.

Moreover Taft, personally, is letting no grass grow under his feet. Last week, while attention was focused on the closing rounds of the neutrality battle, he had a quiet luncheon in the Capitol with Joe Pew, Pennsylvania's multi-millionaire oilman Republican boss.

Pew was the master mind behind the election of Governor Arthur James last year, and was grooming him as a 1940 darkhorse. But James' bungling has cooled Pew's ardor and he is looking over the field for another favorite. Whether Taft will be the man remains to be seen, but politicos consider their secret pow-wow most significant.

* * *

Iowa Bloomer.

AMONG politicians there is genuine professional admiration for the way Taft's campaign is being handled. But in one state the boys credit his managers with a bloomer.

This is in Iowa, where ex-Senator Lester Dickinson was picked to act as host to Taft when he stumps the state later this month. (Taft has been working for more than a month on the speech he will make in Iowa explaining why he voted against the farm parity price appropriation last spring.)

Among Iowa Republican leaders, Dickinson is considered a "hoodoo." Although their entire state ticket won hands down last year, he was nosed out by Democratic Senator Guy Gillette, who is not overly popular. So when A. K. Barta, Taft advance man, visited Iowa to make arrangements for the trip, he carefully sidestepped Dickinson on the advice of local leaders.

Thereupon Dickinson wired David Ingalls of Cleveland, Taft manager, offering to take Taft under his wing, and Ingalls accepted. When Taft's Iowa friends got the news they sent hot wires of protest, warning that Dickinson's tie-up was a mistake, but it was too late. He had his nose under the tent and wasn't getting out.

Ladies Stick Together.

WASHINGTON ladies of the press have been shouting hosannas for Mrs. Borden "Daisy" Harriman, American minister to Norway, as having high pressured the Norwegian government into intercepting the City of Flint.

State department records show, however, that Mrs. Harriman, although a charming diplomat, was as much surprised when Norway took the City of Flint as anyone in the state department.

In fact, the state department tried to get hold of Mrs. Harriman at the time the incident happened, but she was asleep. First news received by the state department came from the press associations, not from Daisy.

* * *

Neutrality Kinks.

A BIG behind-the-scenes debate has been taking place in the state department as to whether the mandated areas under the League of Nations should be included in the war zone barred to American shipping.

Chief countries affected would be Palestine, which is mandated by the League of Great Britain, and Syria, which is mandated to France.

So far, the inside debate has favored leaving these countries out of the war zone even though governed by belligerents. Also exempt from the war zone, to date, are Gibraltar, the British naval base at the mouth of the Mediterranean, and Algiers on the French coast of North Africa.

There would be nothing to prevent American vessels, under the present war zoning, from carrying goods to Gibraltar or Algiers, than transferring them to French or British bottoms.

From the viewpoint of American war risk, however, the submarine menace off the coast of Spain and near the entrance to Gibraltar may be considerable.

Note—A kink in the new neutrality act unnoticed by most people is the fact that Germany could easily purchase airplanes in California, rush them by fast Japanese steamer to the Japanese port of Dairen, Manchukuo, thence on the Trans-Siberian railroad to Germany. Since U. S. air factories are on the Pacific coast, this route would not be much longer than via the Atlantic.

Rare Gift.

JUSTICE WILLIAM DOUGLAS has received a rare gift from W. N. Marshall, Spokane banker and great-great-grandson of the illustrious Chief Justice John Marshall.

To commemorate the elevation of a Pacific Coast "boy" to the supreme court, banker Marshall presented Douglas with a plate and serving platter from a set of chinaware used by his famed ancestor. Douglas accepted the treasured heirlooms as a gift to the court, and while they are displayed in his office, he has had them recorded as the property of the tribunal.

The plates are part of a set purchased by Colonel Thomas Marshall, father of the chief justice, in China in 1754. When the son married in 1783, his father gave him the set and it has remained in the family ever since. The plates are of heavy chinaware, decorated with a greenish-blue flower design that make them appear much more delicate than they actually are.

Merry-Go-Round

HANS THOMSEN, handsome German Charge d'Affaires, pooh-poohs the story that Fuehrer Hitler believes in Wotan and wants him to be the Gods of the Germans. Hitler's God, according to Thomsen, "is the same God Goethe believe in." . . . To look at quiet, little Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas one would never suppose he believed in taking chances. Yet, addressing a group of young visitors the other day he counseled, "Don't play safe. The man who is afraid to take a chance now and then never gets anywhere. Remember this: you'll never get to second base if you keep one foot on first."

One-Minute Test.

1. What rank does the Duke of Windsor (formerly King Edward VIII of Great Britain) bear in the Britain expeditionary forces?
2. What natural resources does the industrial area of Poland, now acquired by Germany, contain?
3. What assassination in 1934 in Austria is recalled by the recent murder of Premier Armand Calinescu in Rumania?

Words of Wisdom.

Hints On Etiquette.

If the invitations are out for your wedding, make a plan to take care of the wedding presents as they come in. Keep a notebook, and as the gifts arrive, note down the article, who it is from, and the store from which it was purchased (in case of exchange.) Write as many notes of thanks as you possibly can as the gifts come and the rest as soon after the wedding as possible.

One-Minute Test Answers.

1. Major general.
2. Coal.
3. That of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss.

School Night

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ON SCHOOL NIGHT three floors of lighted windows make the schoolhouse the most imposing building of our crossroads town. We joined the parents and friends moving into the halls of learning. I carried the pink and white bundle that is our infant son.

We walked through the halls, visited exhibits, and talked with the teachers who have our children's daily routine in their care. Most of them were ladies. The percentage of men teachers was typically small. We asked about the behavior of our two, and found that, away from parental influence, they had a better rating than we ourselves might give them.

Our school is newer than most. It has tinted walls and Venetian blinds. One room—it seemed the warmest and richest of all—had reproductions of rare paintings in soft colors. We learned that the teacher, herself, had brought the pictures.

We joined the audience of farmers and villagers in the auditorium-gym for a musical program. A sprinkling of squirming boys and pigtailed little girls was among the crowd, and several other babies like our own. People laughed and chatted, children ran in and out, the orchestra tuned up.

Promptly at the appointed time, the Junior High Glee club mounted the paltform. They were tall and short, plump and lean, solemn and giggling, shy and full of confidence . . . the adolescent age. They sang "April Showers" and, having heard one of them say that she could not see the appropriateness of such a selection in November, we listened carefully—and a lump came into our throat. For they, being April, sang of sadness that they could not understand. Only November hearers—parents and older folk—could fully appreciate the theme of Joy out of tears.

The high school group of glee club girls were more self assured "The Indian Love Call" from their lips had all the appeal of romantic, budding womanhood.

The big boys who sang next, strode to their places with masculine disregard for appearances that brought a smile. The pianist struck a chord and strong, boyish voices broke forth with "Bells of St. Marys."

During a short motion picture afterward, while the house was darkened, a shrill piercing whistle and stamping feet told of at least one lad who still needs education in public behavior.

It was an interesting evening for parents, and we are proud of what our school is doing.

CHECKER CHAMP TOO MUCH FOR NEW LONDONERS

Big Crowd Sees Professional Play, Give Exhibitions; Wins Blindfolded.

NEW LONDON—Willie Ryan, nationally known world champion professional checker player, was greeted by a large number of fans and players when he appeared at the New London Grange hall Wednesday evening under the auspices of the New London Checker club.

Thirty-two players sat in at the beginning of the game, seated in a square with Ryan in the center. One by one the players dropped out. Jack Vesper of Mansfield, one of Ohio's ranking players, was able to hold his own and played Ryan to a draw. A few players partially finished their game, then stepped aside in favor of other players who went down to defeat.

Each Win Draw.

Sam Farnsworth of New London, A. T. Whitmore of New Washington, and Charles Friend of Wellington each won a draw with Ryan, each man finishing up with two checkers on the board. The biggest excitement came, however, when Pat Williams of Plymouth, Ohio, handed Ryan a defeat.

Ryan also gave an exhibition of checker playing while blindfolded. He took on five players, including two of those who had previously drawn with him, and played four games, winning every one.

About 100 checker fans came to the meet from Willard, Plymouth, Mansfield, Ashland, Spencer, Birmingham, Wellington and New London. Two of the players were ten years old, Russell Keith of New London, and Benny Wildman of Birmingham.

NEW DEPUTY

Shiloh Woman Honored at 2 Parties by Lodge Members.

SHILOH—Mrs. Ditha McBride, recently elected deputy grand matron of the 10th district of the Order of Eastern Star, was honored twice in the past few days by her lodge at parties in celebration of her election. Wednesday night following the regular meeting of Angelus chapter she was feted and presented with a bouquet of chrysanthemums by Mrs. Alma Stevenson on behalf of the chapter.

Officers elected were Jane Bushy, worthy matron; Faye Zackman, associate matron; Inez Brumback, conductress: Beatrice Guttine, associate conductress: Lina Rose, secretary, and Algie Cockburn, treasurer. A memorial service will be conducted by the past matrons of the lodge Nov. 22.

Saturday night 21 past matrons of the chapter gathered at the home of Mrs. W. W. Pittenger and honored Mrs. McBride. She was presented with a bag by the past matrons club.

HOSPITAL GROUP SPONSORS SOCIAL

Crestline Ladies Auxiliary Holds Event in Parish Hall.

CRESTLINE—The Ladies auxiliary of Emergency hospital sponsored a public card social in St. Joseph's parish hall Wednesday evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hardin Jones in bridge: Mrs. Paul Post in pinochle: Miss Kathryn Herman in euchre and Mrs. Charles Straile in 500.

Mrs. L. F. Waldbauer won the door prize and Mrs. L. A. Armstrong a cake. The prizes and a part of the lunch were donated by a number of Crestline business men.

During a short business session announcement was made of the annual collection of food for the hospital on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 17 and 18. Another card party was also set for Wednesday, Dec. 16.

WOMAN GAINS CRITIC'S PRAISE

Perrysville Native Publishes Book Of Ohio Ballads, Songs

PERRYSVILLE—"Ballads and Songs from Ohio," collected and arranged by Mary O. Eddy, Perrysville native, "are riches from a region not generally considered good ballad ground," according to a review of the volume to be published in the New York Herald Tribune for Sunday, Nov. 12. "Miss Eddy could be sure of the confidence of aged balled singers, a prerequisite for her purpose. Outsiders must work behind a screen of local agents: Miss Eddy went straight to old folks unafraid of being thought absurd or backward.

They sang for her and brought out faded books of manuscript: they even gave her daguerreotypes of themselves 'in their singing days,' whose reproduction is a pretty feature of a well made volume."

TELLS OF TOUR

CRESTLINE—C. E. Dewald, speaker for the Brotherhood dinner meeting at the First Methodist church Wednesday evening, used as his subject, "Around the World in Sixty Minutes." Mr. and Mrs. Dewald took a world tour the past year. Group singing was led by Milo Wachs.

PANAY SURVIVOR TELLS OF RAID

Mt. Gilead U. S. Sailor, Describes Experiences in Jap Attack.

GALION—Survivor of the Panay disaster of last year, Peres Zeigler of Mt. Gilead, was the speaker Thursday night at the monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of Peace Lutheran church.

Ziegler was a member of the crew of the Panay which was bombed by the Japanese, Dec. 2, 1938. He gave an interesting narrative of his services in the Far East and particularly of the attack on the vessel.

The program was followed with social hours and refreshments. Paul Schieber was chairman of the lunch committee.

DIES AT AGE 76

Miss Julia Schaefer Taken by Death in Galion.

GALION—Miss Julia Schaefer, 76, of 513 Harding Way East, died at her home yesterday of pneumonia. She had been ill for the past two weeks.

Born in Galion, June 8, 1863, she was the daughter of Jacob J. and Mary (Kleinhans) Schaefer. She had been a seamstress at Wisterman's store for a number of years and a member of Peace Lutheran church.

The only survivor is a brother, John Schaefer of North Union street.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. at the Volk funeral home, and at 2:30 p. m. at Peace Lutheran church. Rev. P. E. Auer will officiate and burial will be in Fairview cemetery. Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

TESTS VISIONS

Ashland County to Conduct Eye Clinic Nov. 17.

ASHLAND—School children of Ashland county who have been found with defective vision will be tested at the eye clinic to be held here Nov. 17, it was announced by Virgil B. Moffett, county superintendent.

The pupils with defective vision have been determined in a series of tests which have been conducted by the city and county teachers.

The clinic will reveal those pupils who need glasses or who are to be placed in sight saving classes, it was announced.

There will be approximately 130 pupils examined at the clinic, it was reported.

BELLVILLE—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marion Betts Sunday evening at their home on Huron street.

MOVE INTO NEW GALION SCHOOL

Pupils to Start Classes in Building Monday; Set Dedication Date.

GALION—It's moving time for some 240 pupils and nine teachers. They are moving into the new $110,000 east building which has just been completed here under PWA.

Books and supplies are being transferred from the junior high school to the new building today and Saturday, to be ready to open school Monday.

Although electrical equipment has not been completely installed and some other furnishings have yet to be set up, the building is near enough finished that it will be possible to conduct school in it.

For more than a year pupils and teachers in the east district have had to trek to the junior high school building in the west section of town to attend half-day school. It was Sept. 29, 1938, that they moved out of the old east school in order that it could be razed and the new building constructed on the old site.

School at the junior high school has been conducted from 8 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. with 20-minute intermissions. Then, in the afternoon, pupils of the elementary grades of the west district went to classes in the rooms used by the east school children during the mornings.

While school will be conducted in the new building, it will not be dedicated until the first week of December. The tentative date for dedication has been set for Tuesday, Dec. 5, although no definite time can be set until word has been received from state speakers.

In the new building will be housed the nursery school which will occupy rooms built especially for this purpose; kindergarten department, and primary and elementary grades, one to six. The nine teachers include two nursery school instructors and cook, kindergarten teacher and grade teachers. C. M. Stover is principal of the building.

BELLVILLE—Rev. and Mrs. Dana Johnson of Dayton were guests Tuesday in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Joseph O'Morrow.

SCHOOL PROGRAM, SERVICE BY LEGION TOP ARMISTICE RITES

BUCYRUS—A program in Bucyrus high school this morning and a breakfast followed by a parade and short service at Legion Point featured Armistice day plans for Bucyrus.

At the morning's service in the high school auditorium C. Victor Vollrath, Bucyrus attorney, and Rev. G. L. Burghard, pastor of First Church of Christ, addressed the students. George H. Davis, past commander of Col. Crawford post of the American Legion, also took part in the program.

Members of the Legion Auxiliary will serve the breakfast to war veterans from 7 to 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and the parade is scheduled to move at 10 o'clock, marching to Legion Point where a short service will be held and a wreath placed in tribute to the memory of deceased veterans.

In the parade will be members of the 134th Field Artillery band and service battery, the 135th Field Artillery detachment, the high school band and other veterans' groups.

WED 50 YEARS

Bellville Couple Mark Golden Anniversary at Party.

BELLVILLE—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ritchie observed their golden wedding anniversary Monday at their home on Durbin avenue with many relatives who gathered to help celebrate the occasion. The honored couple was presented with a sight-saving lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie were married in 1889 at the Presbyterian manse in Mansfield by Rev. E. J. Meese. Mrs. Ritchie before her marriage was Ida Josephine Goon of Loudonville. In the spring of 1890 the newlyweds went to housekeeping on the farm on which he was born and lived there until the spring of 1926 at which time they moved to Bellville and have lived here ever since.

Dinner was served at noon to the following guests: Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Allen of Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shafer of Loudonville, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Oakes of Perrysville, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Smith of Olivesburg, Mrs. Ruth Smith and son of Mansfield, Marion Smith of Crestline, H. L. Darling of Bellville, and Mrs. Lottie Zimmerman of Loudonville.

GALION—Tablet service was held for four deceased members at the meeting last night of Galion lodge, No. 1191, B. P. O. Elks. The lodge voted donations to the Red Cross and the Galion Nursery school, and balloted on seven applications.

A communication was read from L. H. Wisler of Willard, chairman of the membership committee of the Ohio association, and the lodge voted to carry on a campaign. E. L. Middleton read the report of the auditing committee for the first half of the year.

14,587 VOTES CAST

BUCYRUS—Official count of ballots Tuesday revealed one of the heaviest votes in an off-year on record in the county, Clerk Raymond Kiess said today.

A total of 14,587 voters went to the polls the count disclosed. Two years ago 12,825 cast ballots.

Official totals resulted in some changes in the vote cast for township offices although no changes were made in the results.

GALION—Word has been received here by C. C. Coyle of the death of his boyhood friend, Walter C. Durgin, 82, prominent retired banker of Los Angeles, Cal., and former Galion resident. He died suddenly at his home in Los Angeles last week, and was buried with high Masonic honors. As a young man Walter Durgin was associated with the late A. G. Bryan in the coal business under the firm name of Bryan and Durgin. He left Galion in 1887. Seven years ago he retired as president of the California bank in Los Angeles. His second wife, Carrie, survives.

COAST GUARD'S PATROL WATCH TIGHTENING UP

Units Have Been Working With United States Navy Since Outbreak of War.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States Coast Guard, Uncle Sam's "second navy," has maintained an increased vigilance along the nation's thousands of miles of coastline since the outbreak of the European war.

Besides carrying on its extensive normal peacetime duties, the Coast Guard is cooperating with the Navy in guarding against violations of United States neutrality.

It is not officially disclosed how large a part of the Coast Guard is playing in Neutrality Patrol work, but is is known that shortly after hostilities began President Roosevelt ordered 2,000 men added to the service's personnel and that several large cutters were ordered from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast to take up patrol duty.

16,000 Enlisted.

When the British freighter Coulmore reported an attack by submarine off New England on Nov. 1, it was the Coast Guard which first snapped into action.

Two of the new vessels were ordered to Boston, Mass., and another to Norfolk, Va. A fourth was dispatched all the way from Cordova, Alaska, to New York City.

The Coast Guard's personnel now totals over 16,000—a larger force than that of all but the major sea powers.

In addition to the 2,000 men added since the war began, the Coast Guard was augmented by some 5,200 men of the Lighthouse Service. This service was consolidated with the Coast Guard a short time ago by virtue of President Roosevelt's reorganization plan.

The consolidation also added to the Coast Guard some 60 vessels ranging from 60 to 280 feet in length. This brings the total strength of the "coastal fleet" to over 2,000 vessels.

Although most of the vessels are relatively small the Coast Guard boasts nearly two score cruising cutters ranging up to 328 feet and capable of weathering the haviest seas. Many of these carry five-inch guns of great destructive power. In war time six-inchers—larger than those carried by United States destroyers—can be mounted.

Like the Navy, the Coast Guard has its own "air arm" consisting of a fleet of long-range patrol planes.

LEGACY OF LOVE + + + + + +

By KATHRN BEMIS

(Copyright, 1939)

CHAPTER XXII

"Yes—I must see you—about something serious! You'll have to come to the Brewsters—I'm still an invalid."

"All right—I'll be there in twenty minutes."

"Tomorrow morning will be better," she suggested hurriedly. "About eleven." This was the only time she could manage to be alone. "I'll be on the sun-deck over the garage — you needn't come to the house at all."

"Great! I'll be there — at eleven."

"Goodbye," she told him brokenly, and slowly hung up the receiver.

What had she done? Got herself engaged to a man she never could love—and Tom—Tom was free, still professing to love her! It didn't make sense. And he'd be here tomorrow—and she must tell him to fade out of her life forever.

She couldn't do it—she hadn't that much will power.

* * *

But she excited herself on this score for no purpose, because it was many long weeks before she saw Tom Cleveland again, and then in a place and situation vastly different from any she had counted upon.

The stark tragedy that struck the house of Brewster that night changed everything. Dain Brewster's limousine was smashed by a truck at midnight, and he was fatally injured. All that skill and money and love could do was done to save him, but nothing succeeded. Without regaining consciousness, he died at daybreak in a local hospital.

Now, all was confusion and bewilderment in the Brewster home. Although Rita was unable to leave her wheel-chair, she managed to send a semblance of order threading through the household, and in so doing submerged for the present her own bitterly difficult problems.

The shock of her husband's passing put Selia Brewster in bed. Roger collapsed into a mere shadow of his old irresponsible self, and Rita found herself the mainstay of the Brewster establishment. Roger, relying upon her for solace and courage, was practically of no use in this sad emergency. Even the servants were tearfully unstrung, because Dain Brewster had been not only master of the house but good friend and conselor to them as well.

Tom, hearing of the fatal motor-car accident, did not intrude upon the family's bereavement to keep his morning's appointment with Rita. Instead he telephoned Rita offered sympathy, and asked if there were any way he could be of use. She thanked him, and said she would get in touch with him later, which had to suffice for the present.

It was all very formal, and hurried, and unsatisfactory, but Rita was forced to brush this from her consciousness, and turn back to duties requiring all her ingenuity and strength of mind. Her own problems could wait. They had been waiting a long time, and perhaps, like roiled water, would eventually clear if given a chance.

* * *

After two weeks of confusion, self-pity, dictating replies to condolences, and trying not to see too many friends who called, Selia suddenly decided she must get away from it all. She ordered Rita's and her clothes packed and, with Preston driving, rode in the limousine with Rita to recuperate in the gentle warmth of Palm Springs in the desert.

Rita, now only slightly dependent on crutches, decided that she also was glad to be getting away. Even that anonymous letter writer might calm down if she left town, and if she and Tom attempted to talk things out, they probably wouldn't be able to adjust much just now.

Surprisingly, nearly the first acquaintance Rita encountered in the hotel in Palm Springs was Jimmy Blocking. She had not seen Jimmy for two years—not since he had intimated he wished their engagement terminated, and she had speedily obliged him. Soon after this he had left for parts unknown, and she had lost all trace of him. Now, he seemed unaccountably glad to see her.

She and Selia were lunching under a bright orange umbrella in the flower-encircled patio when, without hesitancy, he sat down at their table. Jimmy in white shirt and slacks was quite as good-looking and blatantly confident as ever, a little older looking now, but withal a compelling personality.

"Of all the grand luck—meeting you people!" he exclaimed, with eyes only for Rita.

She smiled a funny little ghost of a smile, and her stubborn little chin went up. She told him unemotionally, "It's nice to see you again, Jimmy. You've been gone for ages."

Selia put in, "Yes, where have you been? Roger often speaks of you—wondered what had become of you."

* * *

An ashamed look swept across Jimmy Blocking's well-defined features. He squared his athletic-looking shoulders, said quickly, "Oh, I've been around. I had a wild notion of entering the Olympics and went into training—then got discouraged, gave it up, and tramped around the world. I paused at Shanghai, put through a few good deals, and made my pile. Now I'm home to loaf the rest of my life."

"Congratulations," offered Rita admiringly. "It's nice to meet a man who's made good on practically nothing. You're rather a wonder, aren't you?"

He flushed under his deep tan, ran a hand nervously through his dark wavy hair. "Hardly that. Not when you consider the financial backing I had. Tell you about it sometime."

He rose, seemed suddenly eager to be off. Rita wondered why, and was a little disappointed. In the old days she had admired, often imagined she could learn to love this vigorous athlete with the charming manners.

"I'll be seeing you both a lot, I hope," he said now, and whirled away from them as quickly as he had come.

Selia's plucked brows lifted. She drawled, "Whatever was the matter with him? Didn't he used to be one of your favories, my dear?"

Rita was thoughtfully gazing after Jimmy as he swung gracefully across the lawn toward the badminton courts. She started at Selia's insinuating query.

"Oh — Jimmy?" She laughed shortly. "Yes, he did fascinate me for a while. Then we—we drifted apart," For Selia's benefit, she had to pose as the temperamental Rita Rhodes again, and despised it.

But it appeared to satisfy this woman so bent upon becoming Rita's mother-in-law. She smiled brightly, her kindly brown eyes filled with understanding.

"That's the way with adolescent love—it's so apt to be wrong," she said cheerfully. Then began discussing the trips they must take to Snow Creek Canon, up the Vandeventer Trail, a picnic in the sand dunes. All this on week-ends when Roger would be with them—Roger who now filled Rita with a tremendous sense of responsibility because she was supposed to be the cause for his complete right-about-face.

* * *

She sighed now, wondered what she would be expected to do all week when Roger was absent. Selia would do nothing but eat, sleep and dress. She would think that Rita, now practically a member of the house of Brewster, should likewise observe these few weeks of mourning. Rita watched the lively younger set playing about, wished she could join them. She had been shut up with her injured ankle so long she was growing impatient.

She was still supposed to have secretarial duties to perform and was receiving her regular salary but actually she was only loafing. Selia was as thoughtful of her as she would have been if Rita were already Roger's wife, and this was leaving Rita altogether too much time to think.

Within a couple of weeks her ankle was nearly normal and, on a morning when Selia was lolling in a sun cabinet, Rita took matters into her own hands. In gay green halter and shorts, she strolled out to the tennis courts in search of a partner.

She had barely reached there when from behind her came, "Hi! Oh, Rita!"

She wheeled and waited for the running Jimmy to come up.

He stood panting before her, bronzed and muscular, and arresting in black and white trunks. "Thank heaven, you're alone!" he said. "I've got to talk to you!"

Her eyes widened in surprise.

"To me, Jimmy? What about?"

"It's important. Too bad you're not wearing a swimming suit—I was bound for the pool. But I don't dare let you out of my sight to change. Come on."

He grabbed her arm and began leading her across the thick green lawn to a shrubbed enclosure containing two umbrella-covered deck chairs.

"There!" he exclaimed in relief as they sat side by side, shaded by light yellow awning cloth from the blazing sun. "This is just dandy! Now, I can spill what's been on my conscience for horribly long months.

* * *

Rita was immediately apprehensive. This man, who had so easily given her up, was surely going to say he was sorry he'd been a cad, and she wished he'd spare her this embarrassment. But there was no side-tracking it now. She had let herself in for this by coming out here, and she'd have to pretend to like it.

"You'll be astounded, my dear. Gee—you're lovely—and I've never forgotten I might have had you. I was a fool, Rita—but so much for that."

She stirred uncomfortably. Her worried gaze wandered to the orioles weaving a hammock under a nearby palm. Everything in nature mating and building in this sweet springtime; even men talking of old broken love affairs, trying to patch up hopelessly broken dreams.

"You doubtless wondered at my abrupt change of heart—that time when we parted. I had professed to be madly in love with you—and I was—but money talked with me those days. I had nothing— and twenty thousand meant a lot to me then."

"Twenty thousand? What had that to do with . . ."

"I'm coming to that. Wilmot Green, for some unknown reason wanted to buy me off—and did. Just as he bought off two other men who wanted to marry you. He told us that when you married, your inheritance went to charity—that it was going to be a blow to you when you found it out."

How Munich Beer Cellar Looked After Bombing

—Central Press Radiophotos

German soldiers, storm troopers and Nazi secret police swarm into the wrecked interior of the Buergebrau beer hall in Munich, Germany, seeking clues which may lead to the conspirators who placed and set off a time bomb in the attic of the Nazi meeting place. Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and other Nazi bigwigs had left the hall only a short time before the bomb exploded, killing eight when the ceiling broke and fell. Note shattered ceiling in photo above.

Voters Plunge Many Ohio Cities Into Financial Crises

RELIEF HIT; LEVIES, BOND ISSUES LOSE

Economy Wave Over State to Curtail WPA Employment, School Programs.

Serious financial situations confronted a number of Ohio cities today as a result of the election's economy wave in which voters said "no" to most proposed tax levies and bond issues.

Curtailment of relief and WPA employment were in prospect in some large cities while schools and welfare institutions suffered in others.

Akron, Cincinnati and Cleveland faced relief and WPA cuts and Toledo had a serious school operation crisis.

Cuyahoga county commissioners called a conference of tax league and civic leaders to decide what to do. Relief funds have been nearly exhausted but the voters turned down a relief levy and WPA project bond issues.

The 31,000 now on WPA are expected to be tided over the winter by a $2,659,000 sewer project previously arranged.

Cincinnati officials said the city "may be in a tough spot unless council can find appropriate money to keep labor going." There the voters rejected four bond issues, including $5,000,000 for street improvements.

Fear Big Layoff.

Akron officials feared a layoff of 8,000 of Summit county's 10,000 WPA workers was threatened. Three officials went to Washington and one to Columbus to try for help.

Akron's situation was somewhat relieved, however, by passage of a 2½-mill relief levy, although bond issues of $5,200,000 were defeated. The school board contemplated issuing its own bonds on operating funds which would cut pay for teachers.

Toledo's board of education will meet Monday to decide on three alternatives as a result of defeat of a four-mill school tax levy. These are: Close the schools until a deficit is made up, curtail salaries of 1,400 employes, or trim the entire school program to available income.

Franklin county defeated levies for relief and welfare and, as result, will be short of funds for the tuberculosis hospital and the new detention home opened less than a year ago.

Warren and Trumbull counties were in a quandry over relief. Trumbull county defeated a relief levy in a special election. The county commissioners then turned the administration over to the city. But city voters defeated the levy again in the general election. These funds were to have been used in matching state grants.

Warren also turned down the large Trumbull homes slum elimination project which would have furnished much WPA employment.

Massillon faced possible curtailment of the school term because of defeat of a levy in the face of a probable deficit of $90,000. City officials also feared closing of the local relief station after defeat of a relief levy.

Relief levies also were defeated in Springfield, Lima, Cambridge, East Liverpool, Athens county and Harrison county.

GOSPEL AFLOAT

Sunday School Class 'Spreads The Word' With Balloons

INDIANAPOLIS —(U.P.)— The happy hour women's Sunday School class of Edgemont Methodist church decided to do something in keeping with its motto—"spread the gospel."

The 40 members gathered in the president's front yard with gas-filled toy rubber balloons. Each wrote and signed a paper giving her favorite verse of scripture and tied it to a balloon. At a signal, all set their balloons free.

Sweetheart of Murder Victim Questioned

Up and Down THE STREET

Bellville kiddies had a pre-season visit from Santa Claus yesterday and today several of them were supplied with toy banjoes. The toys were "fished" out of an old mill race that runs through the village after a truck crashed through a guard rail and overturned, spilling the banjoes in the stream. Making up a part of the truck cargo were some dish pans which also spilled into the mill race and were recovered as they floated through the village like tiny boats.

Willie Ryan, national professional checker champion, learned yesterday that Richland county has some pretty good checker players, too. Playing exhibition games at New London, Ryan was beaten by Pat Williams, one of Plymouth's champion checker artists, and Jack Vesper of Mansfield played him to a draw. Williams was the only one of 35 players who could beat Ryan.

Feeling that good grammar is not used in daily conversation as it should, boys of the Senior high school vocational department have started a campaign to stop the use of incorrect grammar. Each week the students will choose a different slogan emphasizing one grammatical error which they try to remove from their speech. This week the boys are concentrating on the slogan, "Vocational boys don't say 'ain't.'"

Ira Bronson, Ohio Public Service company office manager, didn't exactly kill two rabbits with one shot yesterday, but he came close to it. Bronson shot at a rabbit in a field near Upper Sandusky. It kept on running, but another bunny leaped into the air and fell dead at the spot where he aimed the shot. Investigating, he found he had killed an animal that happened to be in the path of the one at which he shot. Roy Vaughn and R. E. Sneeringer, Bronson's hunting companion, saw it happen.

BRIDE TO STICK

Co-ed Wife of Florida Convict to Follow Him Back.

TOLEDO —(AP)—Doy Hill Pope, 37, was on his way to Florida today to complete a 20-year murder sentence as his wife of two weeks prepared to follow "to try again to have him released."

Pretty Mary Louise Toteff Pope, 23-year-old co-ed who eloped with him Oct. 23, kissed the fugitive goodbye and said. "Not only am I going to wait for him, but I intend to go to Florida."

Before Pope's departure, Mary Harbert James, 32, told detectives she married the Toledo refinery worker June 30, 1932, and accused him of bigamy.

Gov. John W. Bricker signed extradition papers in spite of a plea by Pope's co-ed bride.

He denied ever having married Mary Harbert, but said he had known her nearly eight years.

Mrs. John F. Kramer, Wife of Mansfield Attorney, Dies After Brief Illness

Mrs. Emma Maglott Kramer, 66 Lexington avenue, wife of Atty. John F. Kramer and past president of Frances Willard chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, died today at General hospital following a brief illness. Mrs. Kramer had been confined to the hospital since Monday.

Born in Washington township, Mrs. Kramer spent her entire life in this vicinity. She recently retired as president of the Willard chapter, an office she held for a number of years, and had served as county president.

She was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran church, Women's Missionary society, Sunday school and Guild, and was active in church work.

Surviving besides her husband are a son, John F. Kramer, jr., of Columbus; a daughter, Helen; two brothers, H. F. and W. A. Maglott of Washington township; three sisters, Miss Elizabeth Maglott and Mrs. Ella Beyerly of Mansfield and Mrs. Eva Secrist of Washington township, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Finefrock funeral home with Rev. H. S. Garnes of St. Luke's church officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

BAKING HEAD DIES

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Funeral services were planned today for Ben Rubel, 59, for 25 years president of the Rubel Baking Co. He died last night after a long illness.

HARVARD OFFICIALS SLAMMED FOR BANNING BROWDER TALK

BOSTON —(AP)— The fight against Harvard university's refusal to permit Earl Browder, U. S. communist leader, to address a student group broadened today as the civil liberties committee of Massachusetts added its protest to that of the Harvard John Reed society.

University authorities denied Browder the right to address the Reed society on the ground he had been indicted for using a falsified passport. The civil liberties committee declared in a statement that this refusal raised "serious questions."

"After all," the committee said in a statement, "an indictment is not proof of guilt and it is not even evidence under a legal system which presumes innocence until guilt is established by conviction.

"No amount of rationalization can defeat the conclusion that the reason for denial of permission to Browder is because his political views are repugnant to the officials of Harvard university, as they are to most of the people of the United States.

"It is respectfully suggested that the spirit of the bill of rights, which ought to actuate the officers of Harvard university, does not accord freedom of speech to conservatives and deny it to radicals or even to those whose beliefs are popularly called subversive."

SALESMAN DIES

J. C. Matthews, 53, Was Native of Ashland County.

Jesse C. Matthews, 53, a native of Ashland county, died early today at his home, 23 West Arch street.

Born Jan. 8, 1886, in Ashland county, Mr. Matthews resided in Mansfield for 21 years. He had been associated with various furniture stores here and at the time of his death was with the Factory Furniture Sales company as a salesman.

Surviving are his wife, Mary E. Matthews; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Matthews of Ashland; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Harmon of Clearcreek, and Miss Lelah Matthews of Ashland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Finefrock funeral home with Rev. H. S. Garnes of St. Luke's Lutheran church officiating, assisted by Rev. S. S. Davis of the Evangelical church of Ashland. Burial will be in Red Haw cemetery.

TAKES OWN LIFE

Invalid, Believed Despondent Over Condition, Shoots Self.

WARREN —(INS)— Despondency over the fact he was an invalid since suffering a paralytic stroke in 1937 was blamed today for the suicide of Samuel Graber, 57, former Trumbull county probate judge and city prosecutor here for 24 years.

Using a small revolver, Graber fired two shots into his body at his home last night. Beside the body were three notes. One said that a physician would give him no encouragement.

TAKEN BY DEATH IN LOUDONVILLE

S. J. Schauweker, 72, Was Lifelong Resident Of Ashland County.

LOUDONVILLE — Sherman J. Schauweker, 72, a lifelong resident of this community, died at his home yesterday after an illness of six months. He had been active in community work, and had been a member of the Republican central committee of the county.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter and two sons, Mrs. Irene Losh and Virgil of Loudonville and Theodore of Columbus; a brother, Albert of Newark; four sisters, Mrs. D. C. Lewis, of Temple City, Cal., Mrs. Charles Petot, Cleveland, Mrs. Josephine Ecki and Miss Bertha Schauweker of Loudonville, and one grandson. He and his wife celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in February.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at the Gilbert funeral home with Rev. J. H. Volpitto officiating. Burial will be in the Loudonville cemetery.

MAZE OF CLUES PUZZLE POLICE IN GANG KILLING

Amorous Telegram in Verse Found; Business Rivalry Investigated.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—State's attorney's police, perplexed by a maze of possible motives in the shotgun murder of Edward J. O'Hare, 46, millionaire horse and dog track impressario, early today questioned a young woman with whom he had been friendly for seven years. She said they had planned to marry.

She is Ursula (Sue) Granata, sister of State Representative Peter C. Granata. She worked at Sportsman's park race track of which O'Hare was president.

Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police, who had been seeking to question her since O'Hare was shot and killed in gangland style late Wednesday while driving from the track toward Chicago, located her at the home of a relative. She was hysterical and under the care of a physician.

"The physician said she was in danger of pneumonia and I talked to her only a few minutes," he said. "She said she had kept company with O'Hare for seven years and that they were to have married soon. She said she last saw O'Hare at the Illinois Athletic club Monday."

Kelly had hoped she would be able to give him information to enable him to determine whether the answer to the slaying would be found in the underworld or O'Hare's business ventures, which included horse and greyhound track interests in seven states.

Telegram Seen Mystery.

He was seeking, too, a solution to a telegram, found among O'Hare's personal effects, carrying an amorous verse in Italian and dedicated to "Margie." When killed he was carrying a valuable watch inscribed, "Amor Sempiternus (love always eternal) Sue."

Of other theories and clues, these emerged as most important:

That, as backer for two local tracks, O'Hare had angered certain elements by trying to "break away."

That he had turned "informer" for federal agents.

That there might be some coincidence between the release from prison Nov. 19 of Scarface Al Capone, former gangland overlord of Chicago and former owner of Sportsman's park, and the fact that both planned to go to Florida soon.

That O'Hare planned to extend his interest to Roller derby enterprises and someone had resented his attempt to "get in."

Concerning the Capone angle, detectives who handled many of investigations in gangland during the prohibition heydey, said O'Hare bought out the Chicago tracks when Capone went to prison for income tax evasion in 1933 and that the remnants of his former gang may have taken his release as an opportunity to again seek control, they said.

FAIR ENOUGH!

If Ham and Eggs Scheme Is Fantastic, Origin of It Is Great Deal Worse

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES—Huey Long adopted or stole his title of King-Fish from a mythical Negro character in the Amos 'n' Andy program, and the slogan ham-and-eggs, which had bewitched millions of Americans in California and elsewhere in the southwest, also springs from an origin so absurd that the story of its adoption as a great political cry cannot be told without a sense of shame and fear. ham-and-eggs signifies comfort and plenty, and the phrase has an alarming sound when shouted at random, like Hallelujah, by bitter men and women on the fringes of shapeless crowds.

* * *

In Pershing square, in Los Angeles, such crowds gather and scatter of a day, but toward evening the sound of oratory rises sharply, like the cheeping of the starlings at sundown in the niches of the masonry in Washington.

Then for two or three hours the discussion is general. It cannot be called debate, for there is almost no dissenting opinion. Groups come together, break up and eddy into new groups like little creatures in a drop of swamp water under a microscope, and above the angry notes of the spellbinders, most of whom bear the recognizable marks of the communist provocator, the cry is heard, "ham-and-eggs."

* * *

For a long time, dating 'way back in the era of wonderful nonsense when Los Angeles was confident and Republican, a group of local right-thinkers, businessmen, doctors and the like, constituting in all a perfect congress of babbittry, have had a grewsome custom of meeting at a public restaurant at 7 o'clock on Thursday mornings to breakfast together. It may be said that any breed of people who would assemble in a mass in a spirit of determined, almost muscular, conviviality, to start the day singing stupid doggerel and shouting hearty witicisms, deserve any consequence of their folly.

It may be added in extenuation, however, that the desert sun shines bright in Los Angeles early in the morning so that people cannot sleep on. Therefore, the babbits bound brightly from their beds in a mood to beam upon their fellow-men, and in this spirit gather once a week to breakfast jovially on ham and eggs.

* * *

They are the men who, 10 or 15 years ago, were described as forwardlooking and as architects of a brilliant future, and out of their quick and flashing wit they developed a traditional salutation. Traditions ripen quickly in a new country, and in no time at all these genial giants of trade and science in Los Angeles were greeting one another thus: "Hello, Ham!" and "Hello, Eggs!"

Some poet among them made a song. Such songs always are sung to the tune of Tammany or Casey Jones. This one was a Tammany song. It goes as follows:

Ham 'n' eggs,
Ham 'n' eggs,
I like mine fried good and brown,
I like mine fried upside down.
Ham 'n' eggs,
Ham 'n' eggs,
Flip 'em, flop 'em,
Flap 'em, drop 'em,
Ham 'n' eggs.

* * *

Their envied company included, from time to time, Mr. Willis Allen, a real estate salesman and go-getter who had been a cheer leader at the University of Southern California.

Mr. Allen was sucessful only in blurts, and when, after many disappointments, he muscled in on the scrip-stamp pension racket a few years ago he brought to his new work a slogan which signified to the poor not only food in the plain, homely, folksy version but a promise of parity with the aristocrats of commerce.

He had led the singing of "ham 'n' eggs" at the breakfast parties, and he now promised the poor $30 every Thursday, the traditional breakfast dish ofo those whose opinions were quoted in the papers and the capacity to buy ham and eggs every day in the week without working.

They were to send him one cent a day, plus special contributions solicited from time to time; they were to work without pay as precinct organizers, enlisting other joiners at a penny a day, and in return, though California might go broke and they might lose their American rights, they would get ham-and-eggs.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—That man's out again. Which man? That man who is always escaping from Devil's Island, France's gift to the cinema, or from some place just like Devil's Island but not so named because France might get sore.

The man his time is Gable. Last week it was Basil Rathbone, the week before—but let's get up a list instead, some time, of the actors who haven't made the dash for freedom. You know—"the jungle—the fever—the swamps—and if you don't get through—the ants. Y'ain't got a chance, buddy!" But liberty is sweet, and your hero has to make the try or the movie he's in ain't got a chance, buddy, neither.

Well, Gable's doing it for a new one called "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep" (but much too long for the marquees so the present title hasn't much chance). The girl is Joan Crawford, here with Gable for the sixth time.

That means something to the Crawford career, coming as it does quickly after her about-face in "The Women," a role which made her interesting again. With Gable, Joan made her biggest early talkie successes. And the present picture will be ready soon after Gable begins reaping the reward for his months of screen absence spent in the making of "Gone With the Wind." The long overdue picture has the sneakers raving, with especial huzzahs for Ohio-born Gable's impersonation of Dixie's Rhett Butler.

* * *

"Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep's" release will find Gable bigger than ever in consequence, and Joan, in the slightly shady role of a waterfront resort hostess, ought to profit immeasurably by the association. Stardom is measured, more than ever these days, by the company it keeps on the marquees.

It's the brave movie light indeed, these parlous box-office days, who dares to shine alone on a marquee. Since the making of "Grand Hotel" and "Dinner at Eight"—counter-depressions measures involving the dumping of a carload of real stars into each production—the idea of fellow traveler stars (non-politically speaking, of course) has gained such ground as to be almost the rule.

* * *

Even our leading star, Shirley Temple, is not averse to stellar support, although her name alone is one of the few that can sell tickets on its own. In the old days one Billie Dove or one Greta Garbo was sufficient. Today we get combinations like Power-Loy-Brent, Muni-Davis-Ahearne, Garbo-Melvyn Douglas-Lubitsch, and best "support" money can buy. We get three Marx brothers, three Lane sisters (with a Gale Page thrown in) and we used to get three Ritzes and four Yacht Club Boys. For "Not Too Narrow, etc." besides Gable and Crawford we're getting Melvyn Douglas and Peter Lorre and Betty Compson, with Frank Borzage for director.

All of which should be the answer to bank night and bingo and free dishes, but unfortunately hasn't answered anything yet—for Walt Disney is still the only producer without an indirect investment in the crockery business.

WINS ON FLIP

Candidates Involved In Tie Toss Coin To Decide Mayor Race.

JEFFERSON —(U.P.)— Gilbert H. Myers won the office of mayor of North Kingsville village today by the flip of a coin.

A silver dollar tossed by Mrs. E. G. Colin, member of the Ashtabula county election board, decided a 214-vote tie between Myers and P. H. Boerngen after both candidates had declined a recount of votes cast in Tuesday's election.

Dick Tracy—Trigger-ometry

IN COLOR ON SUNDAY

By Chester Gould

YEAH, THIS IS THE GUN THAT FIRED THE SHOT. IT'S AIMED DIRECTLY AT HIS HEART.
BUT WHO WOULD WIRE A GUN TO A CHAIR?
IN MY JUDGEMENT, IT'S ED'S OWN GUN. THERE'S HIS EMPTY SHOULDER HOLSTER ON THE DRESSER.
THAT WIRE IS AN OLD CLOTHES HANGER.
SURE ENOUGH! AND SAY, THERE'S SOMETHING TIED AROUND THE TRIGGER!
YOU'RE RIGHT, PAT, I SAW THAT RIGHT ALONG. AND IF YOU NOTICE, IT ISN'T FABRIC OR STRING—AND IT ISN'T METAL.
GOOD HEAVENS, DICK, IT LOOKS LIKE A PIECE OF—OF SKIN.

Mrs. David Ford Feted With Party

Another in the series of post-nuptial parties honoring Mrs. David Ford was given yesterday evening by Miss Virginia Anderson at her home on Davis road. Mrs. Ford was Miss Jeannette Kochenderfer before her marriage on Oct. 21.

Bridge was in play at three tables during the evening, and prizes were won by Mrs. Harvey Horn and the honoree. The guests gave Mrs. Ford a shower of miscellaneous gifts, and the hostess presented her with an electrical gift.

Refreshments were served at the small tables, decorated with fall flowers and yellow and white appointments. Mrs. Dean Fighter and Mrs. Lowell Moore will honor Mrs. Ford with a breakfast Sunday morning.

Guests Present At Circle Meet

Mrs. Stella Armstrong, Mrs. William Linton and Mrs. George Hart were guests at a meeting of the Chautauqua circle yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. R. Hart on Arthur avenue. Fall flowers centered the table when a covered-dish luncheon was served at 1 o'clock.

Following the business session, which was conducted by Mrs. A. H. Weikert, the group played hearts. Mrs. Marie Lomax, Mrs. L. M. Campbell and the guests received prizes in the games.

Mrs. L. M. Campbell, Mrs. A. J. McHugh and Mrs. Frank Campbell will entertain the circle members with a Christmas party on Dec. 14. There will be an exchange of gifts at this affair, which will be held at Mrs. Frank Campbell's home on Bowman street.

Complete Five Comforts At Charity Session

Five comforts were completed yesterday by members of the Matlock Charity band when they held an all-day meeting at the North Lake park pavilion. Luncheon was served at noon. There were 19 members and three guests, Mrs. Charles Hoff, Mrs. Ray Zerby and Mrs. A. H. Au, present.

Mrs. Susan Wheaton conducted the business meeting, and devotions, and a description of the Kentucky mountain people was given by Mrs. Della Richardson. Mrs. John Taylor gave a talk on welfare. Plans for the next meeting will be announced later.

Plan Christmas Tea For Bible Study Unit

Plans were made for a Christmas tea yesterday when members of the Mary-Martha Bible class met with Mrs. J. E. Smith, 185 Ausdale avenue, yesterday. Mrs. P. W. Backenstos conducted the meeting and led the study. Miss Ruby Doolittle was in charge of the devotions.

There were three new members, Mrs. E. J. Kemp, Mrs. Myron D. Miller and Mrs. O. D. Fair, welcomed yesterday. The holiday social will be held Dec. 14 with Mrs. K. R. Smith, 718 Highland avenue.

Junior Gardeners Have Autumn Meeting

Members of the Sun Dial Junior Garden club had their first meeting since early summer last evening at the home of Katherine Ann Fensch, 55 Pinecrest. Beatrice Walters, president, was in charge, and the club adviser, Mrs. Richard Fensch, presented a paper on "Narcissi Bulbs."

Plans were formulated for a Christmas party to be held on Dec. 15 with Anna Marie Fisher as hostess at her home on Lind avenue. Patty Maglott and Katherine Ann Fensch will be the associates. Refreshments were served at the close of last night's meeting.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Eyes on the tablecloth!" Harry Underwood ordered as Dicky came into the restaurant. "And pretend to be eating, even if you can't. And don't make any unnecessary gestures. The lad is pretty keen, you know, and we don't want to set him thinking by some familiar movement he might catch."

Lillian and I obeyed him meticulously. But I have a trick of watching from beneath apparently lowered eyelids, and I lost no movement of my husband's as he paused just inside the door, and with not even a nod of recognition, strode over to the table where sat the man and the woman who, he must know, were conspiring against him.

"Well!" he said gruffly as he came up to the table. "Here I am, according to my schedule. Now what do you want of me?"

"Well! if it isn't the Dicky-bird," the woman burbled, while the man added a "How-are-ya-pal?" which I knew must be fraying my husband's nerves.

"Sit down and have a drink," the woman invited, waving her hand to the seat against the wall. "Get up, Lazy bones," she adjured her companion, "and let him past you."

Dicky eyed the table, the seat, and the occupants of the two other chairs with calm appraisal. Then he spoke, and there was conscious insolence in his voice.

"That seat does not suit me," he said, arrogantly. "If your—friend—" he did not look toward the man at the table "—will move into it, I will take his—for a few minutes. But I will not take a drink. However, I will buy for you and your friend, if you wish."

The man at the table looked hopeful, but the woman cut his hopes down ruthlessly.

"Move over," she told him, imperatively, and without further protest he obeyed her.

"And don't expect any drink till we get through with this," she went on. Then she turned to Dicky, who had seated himself in the chair the man had vacated.

"Seems to me you're pretty high hat, Dicky-bird," she said, and something, I did not know what, made me send a quick glance at the woman with the blonde wig who sat at the table near us.

She was pretending to eat, trying to keep her eyes on the table. But a tyro could have seen that she was furtively watching the table of three, and feverishly trying to hear every word of their colloquy.

Dicky's answer was slow, measured and icy.

"If you use that name again, I shall leave here at once," he said.

"Oh! no you won't," the woman returned insolently, but as Dicky started to rise she put a placating hand upon his arm.

"Sit down!" she said. "The name's out. Can't you take a joke?"

"I am not in a jesting mood," he returned, re-seating himself. "You have told me that you are going to issue a certain ultimatum to me tonight. I am here to hear it. When you have uttered it, I shall either accept it or refuse. So I beg you to be brief. I haven't much time."

His voice was so low that we could not catch it, but Harry and Lillian resumed their lip reading, and took turns in retailing it to me.

"You're mistaken about that time thing, Big Boy," the woman said. "It isn't going to be as simple as you think. If you don't come clean and play ball with us, you're going to have the worst mess of time on your hands that ever was unrolled from the time machine."

"Now you're talking," her gangster companion struck in. "It's time you realized what you're up against."

Dicky turned and looked the man over as if he were a loathsome insect that had just crawled into sight from behind the molding.

"If you speak again, I leave," he said. "Why you are here, I do not know."

He turned back to the woman.

"Tell me now what your ultimatum is," he said.

She drew a deep breath and faced him with a steady gaze.

"Lead us to that father-in-law of yours," she said, "guarantee that he is delivered fast into our hands, or we'll shoot the whole works to your wife."

Delicious Dessert Recipes

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

HERE ARE some delicious desserts, starting off with one that is nourishing as well as tasty. It is Apple Perisphere, a good dessert to serve at a children's party. It really is our old pal, glazed apples, but we've got to change names around a bit to keep up with the times.

Ingredients call for six small apples, two cups sugar, one cup water, two sticks cinnamon, two whole cloves, red coloring. Peel and core apples. Combine sugar, water, stick cinnamon (crushed), whole cloves and red coloring. Bring mixture to a boil. Drop apples into boiling syrup and cook until tender. Remove from syrup, place in baking dish, top each apple with a marshmallow and place in oven until marshmallows are brown on top. Serve either hot or cold.

Want to surprise the folks with the latest thing in home made goodies? Fruit kisses is the answer. The recipe takes four egg whites, one and one-half cups powdered sugar and five ounces chopped prunes. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually add two-thirds of sugar and continue beating until mixture holds its shape. Fold in remaining sugar. Fold prunes into egg mixture. Drop mixture from tip of spoon onto cookie sheet, well greased, and bake in slow oven (350° F.) for 50 minutes or until dry. When sweets are done, they leave cookie sheet readily.

Caramel Cream.

Caramel Cream is frozen dessert which is guaranteed to break the ice at any dinner party. It is made with one tablespoon gelatin, one-fourth cup cold water, one-half cup hot milk, two-thirds cup sugar, one-half teaspoon mace, one pint of heavy cream or four egg whites. Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Place one-half sugar in heavy sauce pan to melt until it is a brown liquid, and pour very gradually into hot milk. Stir until smooth, then add to gelatin mixture. Stir until gelatin is dissolved, adding rest of sugar. As it begins to thicken, add mace and fold in cream or eggs, beaten very stiff. Pour into cold, wet mold and freeze.

Peaches, bananas and crushed strawberries are all good as waffle toppers. Serve as a dessert with whipped cream, sweetened with powdered sugar and flavored with powdered cinnamon or mace.

"The Authority on Authorities"

ANYTHING HAPPENS

Who ever head of 3-No Trumps as being a sacrifice bid? Even that, unbelievable as it seems, can happen and produce a better score than you have a chance to make otherwise, since the opponents up to the time of the final bid were in a position to make a part-score contract of three (Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable).

All sorts of things happened on this deal. At one table, East called 1-Club, South doubled, West 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, East 2-Hearts, South doubled, North 2-Spades and all passed, the contract being made for a score of 110 points.

At a second table East bid 1-Club, South doubled, North 1-Spade, East doubled, South 2-Hearts and North 3-Diamonds, which was passed, the contract being made for another score of 110.

At a third table the bidding went exactly the same up to 3-Diamonds, which West doubled. It is a good thing East did not pass, but bid 3-No Trumps. South doubled this, and it went down just one trick for a score of 100 points beating the other East-West pairs by 10 points.

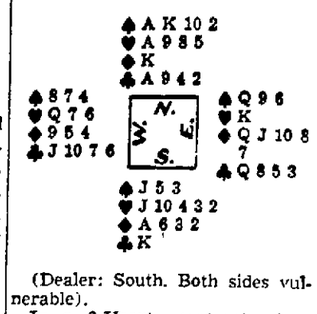
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable).

In a 6-Heart contract, how should South play the trump suit as the best chance to succeed?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, November 11.

A difficult day, with indications of predispositions to invite adverse and regrettable situations through indulgence in violent, passionate and ungoverned conduct or impetuosities, is forecast. Quarrels, turbulence and self-indulgence of various kinds incite to definite dangers and reprisals. Tact, diplomacy and stratagem may avert disagreeable denouements. There are hazards in journeys, changes, removals and other sudden acts. Let restraint rule.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of adverse and difficult circumstances, mainly through indulgence of their own reckless, passionate and intemperate conduct, ignited from within by inflammatory forces and irrepressible faculties. These should be diverted into creative channels by self-restraint, moderation in act and speech. Turn away incited wrath by kindliness, tact and strategy. Beware of dangers in change and travel.

A child born on this day may be excitable, passionate, ill-governed, self-centered and self-indulgent, unless its creative energies are turned into constructive channels by early discipline and training.

ZIPPERED FLOWERS

Flowers that bloom in the fall conceal zipper closings. A geranium fronting the neck of a black dress splits in the middle when the zipper petal is pulled. A bunch of violets at the waist of an afternoon frock opens up in the same way. The flowers combine silk embroidery with colored paillettes.

KIRK RIDGE PROGRAM FOR TUESDAY TOLD

Concert Pianist Will Present Recital of Bach, Chopin, Beethoven Numbers for Music Club Scholarship Fund.

MEMBERS of the Mansfield Music Study club expect a well-filled house Tuesday night when Kirk Ridge, pianist, is presented in concert for the benefit of the club's schoiarship fund. Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, chairman of the ticket committee, said today that approximately 500 tickets had been sold and the committee hopes to sell that many more.

Kirk Ridge, concert pianist and professor of piano at the College of Fine Arts, Syracuse university, is well known in Mansfield, spending a part of every summer and his holiday vacations in Mansfield and in Lucas, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ridge, reside.

A special concert grand piano is being shipped from Cleveland to Mansfield for the concert, which is a highlight of Mansfield's music entertainment this season.

Ridge has chosen his program numbers largely from Bach, Beethoven and Chopin. His introductory group is made up of two Bach numbers; the choral prelude "I Call Upon the Lord" and Toccata and Fugue In D Minor.

His second group will be a Beethoven sonata, opus 57 in F minor (appassionata). Lovers of Chopin will find the pianist's third group much to their liking. It starts with four preludes—C minor, A major, B minor and A flat major. Then there will be the etude in C sharp minor and the Chopin waltz in C sharp minor. The somber and impressive funeral march from the Sonata, opus 35, will be included in the Chopin group because a number of Mansfield friends specifically requested it. The group ends with a light polonaise, opus 53 in A flat major.

The final group is made up of numbers that every lay music lover knows and loves. There will be an etude in C sharp major by Scriabine; one of the most melodious and rhythmic of Viennese waltzes by Friedman-Gartner; Ridge's own Minuet, which is always demanded by his audiences, and the sixth Hungarian rhapsodie of Liszt's.

Rev. Hayes Braker Speaker At St. Luke's Guild Supper

REV. HAYES M. BRAKER, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Women's guild of St. Luke's church yesterday afternoon in the church parlors. Rev. H. S. Garnes, pastor of the church, introduced Rev. Braker, who told of the work of the Red Cross.

Mrs. W. L. Parkinson conducted a portion of the program, which was devoted to Thanksgiving, by telling of the first Thanksgiving and reading George Washington's first proclamation for the holiday. Music was furnished by Sigurd K. Jorgenson, who played two violin solos, "Adoration" by Borowsky and "Melodie" by Tschaikowsky. He was accompanied at the piano by Minnie Marks Cahall.

The business session was in charge of Mrs. Neil Remy, president, and plans were made for a guest meeting to be held Dec. 14. This will be a covered-dish dinner at the church, with Mrs. W. L. Sickmiller and officers of the guild in charge of arrangements.

Following the business session yesterday, Mrs. W. J. Spreng and her committee served supper to the group. The table was decorated with autumn fruits and vegetables.

PERHAPS you remember my telling you earlier this fall that Charles Ireland (son of Mr. and Mrs. David S. Ireland) is a member of the men's glee club at Wooster college. . . . He sings in the second tenor section and is quite busy these days too as the club is now preparing two programs—one of sacred music and one of secular music. . . . Then in addition to appearances at the college, the club makes week-end trips to all the larger cities in the state and during the spring recess will go east for a ten-day tour.

Word from Ohio university down in Athens tells us that Carl Ish was initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity there this week. . . . Carl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lial L. Ish.

* * *

MRS. R. E. MAY and her daughter, Tonia Marie, who have been visiting here recently, left this week for Dallas, Tex., where they will be joined by Mr. May to make their home. . . . No doubt you'll remember Mr. May better as Dick, son of Mr. and Mrs. George May . . . he's been transferred to the Lone Star state from Cleveland. . . . While they were here, Mrs. May and Tonia Marie spent some time with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Marie Moore, and the Mays.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schonyan returned home this week after a two-week visit in Osage and Kansas City, Kan., with relatives and parents. . . . They motored out and back—and Mr. Schonyan's brother, Philip, came east with them.

AND IN CONCLUSION: James Clark and William McClurg returned this week from California, where they have been employed by Westinghouse at the Golden Gate expo in San Francisco since early this year. . . . Rex Beal has gone to New York City after a visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Beal.—He will be affiliated with the J. C. Penney company there. . . . Mr. and Mrs. J. Leo Hartmann and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. DeYarmon are in Dayton today attending a meeting of the Dayton consistory, Scottish Rite Masonry.

Church Groups Conduct Annual Birthday Party

The annual birthday dinner and guest night program of the missionary societies of the First Christian church was held Tuesday night at the church. Mrs. John H. Heath presided, and Mrs. George A. Harmon led the devotions, while Mrs. Ralph Kornoely furnished the piano music during the evening.

FEDERATION HOLDS LECTURE-LUNCHEON

Avis Clamitz Shulman Speaks on "Books and the World Outlook" at Madison Theater; Bridge Party Planned.

BOOKS are the most sensitive measure of our world activity," Avis Clamitz Shulman, writer and lecturer, told members of the Mansfield Federation of Women yesterday morning at the Madison theater when she appeared as the second lecturer in the series of fall and winter meetings. She addressed the group on the subject "Books and the World Outlook." Mrs. Shulman began her talk with a discussion of the Age of Reason of the 18th century, and with a description of Lord Melbourne, Lady Caroline and Byron.

She spoke of Melbourne as a split personality, and as the forerunner of a new era in literature, recommending his biography by Lord David Cecil.

"American writers are beginning to be thrown in upon themselves," she declared, explaining that they are no longer boistrous but now sincere. "Now, we feel we are approaching the more lasting American literature," she told her listeners.

Considerable of Mrs. Shulman's speaking time was devoted to a discussion of John Steinbeck and his current best seller, "Grapes of Wrath," "Christ in Concrete," "Kitty Foyle" by Christopher Morley, and "Freedom and Culture" by John Dewey.

"We seek answers," the speaker explained, "and our present literature, even our fiction is struggling to give us those answers. We may now be approaching the place where we will walk down a wide road together, more tolerant, more understanding, more cooperative, as a result of what modern authors are showing us," Mrs. Shulman concluded.

Luncheon was served at the Women's Club following the lecture. Mrs. Lester Redding, president of the Federation, introduced the speaker. The next Federation meeting will be a bridge party Dec. 7 at the club house. Luncheon will be served, and reservations will be accepted until 6 p. m. Dec. 6.

A Message To The Women of Mansfield

From MISS RUTH CHAMBERS

"I had the privilege of a long stroll through the many aisles of fine home furnishings at the JONES store, next door to the theater where I am conducting The NEWS-JOURNAL Cooking School, and I am not wondering why so many of my Mansfield women friends are always telling me about the beautiful furniture, at this store.

"I made it my business to examine the various articles on display and to carefully check the prices. With all of my experience in looking over stores in all parts of the country I have never found a store where the general quality is so high and the prices so very reasonable."

Jones store and warehouses are filled with many beautiful gift items. In the smaller articles of mirrors, table lamps, boudoir lamps, gift furniture, smokers, etc. Their quality far, far in advance of the price, our store is complete. Buy now and we'll hold any article with a small deposit until Christmas.
